Tenement in Steubenville Burned.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

STEUBENVILLE, OHIO, June 20, 1873.

A large brick tenement house on the upper end of Third street, occupied by several families, was destroyed by fire this evening with its entire contents. The house was owned by Mrs. R. C. Peters and valued at $3,000; insured in the Columbiana Mutual for $1,600. The loss on furniture is probably about $1,000.

Boarding House at Dennison, O., Consumed.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

DENNISON, OHIO, June 20, 1873.

The large frame building at the depot, owned by the railroad company, and occupied by M. Gates & Co. as a boarding house, was entirely destroyed by fire this morning. Nearly all of the furniture and most of the boarders' baggage was also destroyed. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. Loss $3,000.

Michigan Town Entirely Destroyed.

DETROIT, MICH., June 20.—Special dispatches to the Free Press say that Michigamme City, Marquette county, Lake Superior, was yesterday destroyed by fire. It caught from the burning woods. The place was a mining town in the iron region, and contained eight hundred inhabitants. Along with other buildings burned was the mill of Jackson Houghton, just equipped at an expense of $40,000. At the Spurr Mine two barns and a number of log houses were burned. The heat has so warped the rails of the Marquette, Houghton and Ontonagon Railroad as to render the passage of cars impossible. In certain places the telegraph poles have been burned and the wires are down along the track. Superintendent Merritt, as soon as he heard of the catastrophe, sent a special train to aid in the relief of the sufferers.

Sixty Miles of Brush Fires—Great Destruction of Property.

TORONTO, June 20.—Very destructive brush fires are raging throughout the country northeast of this city. Reports from Antora, Fenton Falls and other towns, covering a stretch of over sixty miles, state that thousands of acres of timber, together with crops, fences, farm houses, barns, &c., are being swept away. Vegetation is suffering greatly owing to the dryness of the season.

Fire in the Woods of New Brunswick.

HALIFAX, June 20.—A fire in the woods in Kent county, New Brunswick, swept the line of the Inter Colonial Railway, now under construction there, for a considerable distance, destroying store houses, shanties and other inflammable matter in its progress. The loss, chiefly to railway contractors, is heavy.

THE CHOLERA.

The Disease at Memphis and Nashville Increasing—Five Cases at Paducah.

MEMPHIS, June 20.—The weather to-day was hot and clear until about six this evening, when a heavy rain and thunder storm came from the west. There was considerable excitement to-day in regard to the cholera, owing to the publication of the mortuary report of yesterday, which was the largest number that have died in one day since the cholera epidemic of 1866. There were twenty-four interments to-day against thirty-three yesterday; of the number, seventeen died of cholera.

NASHVILLE, June 20.—Cholera worse. Deaths to-day forty-nine colored and twenty-four white. Every sanitary measure is being observed, but the indications are discouraging. A slow rain is falling and the weather is close and sultry.

CAIRO, June 20.—Parties from Paducah, Kentucky, report the appearance of cholera in that city. Five deaths occurred there to-day. No cases in Cairo as yet.

CINCINNATI, June 20.—Three deaths yesterday and three deaths to-day have been reported in this city as cholera. These embrace cases classed as cholera morbus, but they are reported here as sporadic cholera and are so reported in these dispatches.

NEWS SUMMARY.

BY TELEGRAPH.

The Mount Vernon cotton mills, at Baltimore, was destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss $207,000; insurance $187,500.

Joe Burton, a negro, convicted of rape, was hanged at Georgetown, Delaware, yesterday. He died proclaiming his innocence.

The election officers, who received Susan B. Anthony's vote were sentenced to pay a fine of $25 each.

Somebody at Louisville forwarded to President Grant at Long Branch, for his son Jesse, a live alligator four feet long. Jessie declined the present, and the President paid express charges, amounting to fourteen dollars, leaving the aligator with the baggage man. The monster soon afterward died.

At Cleveland, yesterday morning, a fire broke out in the extensive barrel works of the Standard Oil Company, destroying the stave drying house. Loss from eight to ten thousand dollars, a portion of which is covered by insurance.

Horace F. Clark, President of the Lake Shore and Union Pacific Railroad Companies, and son-in-law of Commodore Vanderbilt, died in New York, Thursday, of rheumatism of the heart, in the fifty-eighth year of his age. He was a member of the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congress, and since his retirement from politics has been identified with the business interests of New York and railroad progress and the development of the West.

The New York Supreme Court has granted an absolute divorce in the case of Pauline Lucca, against her husband, Baron Von Rhode, with leave to the former to marry again. The plaintiff was also awarded the custody of their child. No counsel appeared for the Baron. The plaintiff's complaint set forth that she was married in Berlin, November 25, 1868, and that her husband subsequently lived a profligate life, squandered her earnings, and associated improperly with the women of Berlin.

Mr. DeLorme, of the firm of DeLorme & Quinton, wholesale toy dealers of Milwaukee, was accidentally killed at Schleisengerville, Wisconsin, Thursday, by the careless handling of a pistol in the hands of a farmer.

Annie Reagon and Maggie Mulray, aged five years each, who had been missing since Wednesday were found yesterday morning locked in a closet in an empty house in the Twenty-fifth ward of Philadelphia. When discovered one of the children was dead and the other was insensible. It is believed that a heinous crime had been committed upon the children. Subsequent examination showed that neither of the children were ravished. The theory is that some one, out of pure hatred, hid the children to annoy the parents, or that some boys were the cause of their imprisonment, and now fear to confess it.

Several cases of cholera are reported at Dantzic, Germany.

Twenty frame tenements in Albany, N. Y., were destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss not heavy.

The steamships Scotia, Ohio and Samaria, from New York, arrived out. The New York, from Bremen, arrived at New York yesterday.

Stephen Deshays and Henry Wilkins, his step-father, had an altercation early yesterday morning, at their farm, three miles from Belleville, Illinois, about a reaper, which both of them desired to use, which resulted in Wilkins shooting Deshays in the head and back, killing him instantly.

The Brooklyn papers publish a full list of the stockholders of the East river bridge, from which it appears that four hundred and twenty shares each were held by Richard B. Connolly, Peter B. Sweeney, Hugh Smith and William M. Tweed, on which the payments had been only forty per cent., while the other private stockholders, and the cities of New York and Brooklyn, have paid up sixty to ninety per cent.

A destructive fire occurred at East Saginaw, Mich., yesterday, involving a loss of $75,000; insurance $37,000. Some twenty families were left homeless.

Judge C. T. Hayden, of Arizona, left Camp McDowell, May 24th, with a party of four Americans and three Mexicans to prospect along the Salt river. They had eight days' provisions only, and since that time nothing has been heard of the party. It is feared the party has been murdered by the Apaches.

EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH.

General Synod, Convened at Canton, Ohio.

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Commercial.

CANTON, OHIO, June 17, 1873.

SIXTH DAY.

Religious services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Hay. Minutes of yesterday read and approved.

Rev. Prof. Baugher made a verbal report on beneficiary education. A committee was appointed to nominate officers for the ensuing year.

The business of the Historical Society was then taken up. Rev. Prof. Hay, D. D., of the Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, Pa., read his report. It showed considerable advance in the church in collecting books and material to aid in preparing the future history of the church. Rev. M. Sheeleigh, of Philadelphia, is to deliver an oration on some historical subject at the next meeting of the General Synod.

The Committee on Systematic Benevolence read their report. It brought out considerable discussion, explanations and inquiries. Pending the discussion Synod adjourned.

TWO O'CLOCK P. M.—Synod convened, and was opened with prayer by Rev. J. P. Schnur. The report of the Committee on Benevolence was continued, and the afternoon was taken up in its discussion, pending which Synod adjourned. Prayer by Rev. Gulick.

In the evening a meeting of the Sabbath School and its friends was held. Rev. S. B. Barnitz, of Wheeling, assisted by Rev. M. Sheeleigh, of Philadelphia, conducted the services. Speeches were made by Rev. M. Rhodes, of St. Louis; Rev. Prof. Hay, D. D., of Gettysburg, Pa.; Rev. Anderson, of Keokuk, Iowa. The meeting was very interesting.

SEVENTH DAY.

Wednesday, June 18.—Synod convened and was opened after the usual devotional exercises. Minutes of yesterday's session were read and approved.

The several orders for the day were taken up, among which was that of the Committee on Correspondence with other ecclesiastical bodies. Several reports and letters of correspondents were read. Mr. Mr Dubbs, of Philadelphia, and delegate from the German Reformed Church, was introduced by Rev. Dr. Pohlman, Chairman of the Committee. He spoke of the near relation of that and the Lutheran church—of the membership, interest and prospects of his church. It was impossible to study the history of the Lutheran Church without at the same time studying that of the Reformed Church. Without holding slavishly to the past, they hold to the great cardinal doctrines of the gospel. Dr. Baum, President, replied in a very neat and appropriate address. The discussion of this report continued to the hour of adjournment. Prayer by Rev. Mr. Baltzly.

TWO O'CLOCK P. M.—Synod was opened with prayer by Rev. D. S. Truckenmiller.

The committee on the Revision of the Constitution presented their report, which was ordered to be read and printed and referred to the meeting of the General Synod.

The report of the Committee on Correspondence was taken up. Rev. M. Rhodes, of St. Louis, and Rev. F. Springer, D.D., were appointed delegates to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, to meet in St. Louis; Rev. H. N. Pohlman, D.D., to the Reformed (Dutch) Church in America; Rev. C. A. Hay, D.D., to the General Synod of the Reformed (German) Church; Rev. S. Sprecher, D.D., to the National Council of the Congregational Church; Rev. J. Schwartz, D.D., to the Synod of the Moravian Church and to the Cumberland Presbyterian Church; Rev. Prof. D. L. Tressler, to the United Presbyterian Church; Rev. M. W. Hamma and Rev. J. B. Helwig to the General Conference of the United Brethren Church. The committee requested to be instructed to communicate with other Evangelical Lutheran General bodies in the United States, inviting interchange of correspondence and fraternal greetings with the General Synod. Passed.

The Board of Foreign Missions, Home Missions and Church Extension were reappointed.

Revs. J. R. Dimm and Dr. T. Stork were appointed to represent the General Synod in the Board of Publication.

The Committee on the German paper reported, which was adopted.

The Synod selected the first Wednesday after Trinity Sunday as the time, and Williamsport, Pa., as the place, for the meeting of the General Synod in 1875.

The Committee on Quarterly Review reported.

The Synod adjourned with prayer by Prof. S. A. Ort.

CANTON, OHIO, June 19, 1873.

Last evening the Synod held a Home Missionary meeting. Many of the missionaries being present, they were requested to give brief statements of their work. These remarks were very interesting, and listened to with great attention. The lay delegate from Kansas Synod, and member of the Kansas City Mission, made a statement of the indebtedness of the church. The speech was brief and to the point. The members of the Synod and others responded by pledging nearly $2,000 to liquidate the debt. Newton, Iowa, also received pledges showing the interest of the Synod in this Mission. The meeting was full of enthusiasm, indicating that the Home Mission work had a strong hold on the hearts of the ministers and the people.

EIGHTH DAY.

This morning, after the usual devotional exercises, Synod resumed its business. The minutes of yesterday were read and approved. The order of the day, the interests of the Germans and Scandinavians, was taken up. Rev. Severinghaus opened the subject. After considerable discussion, resolving and re-resolving, the Synod resolved to institute a German Board, separate and distinct from the present Home Mission Board. It is to have the sole and entire control of the German work in the General Synod.

The Scandinavian interests were presented by Rev. C. Anderson, of Keokuk, Iowa. Rev. A. offered several resolutions looking toward the more vigorous development of the work and interests he represented, which the Synod readily adopted. One of the objects presented was the establishment of a Scandinavian mission school at Keokuk, Iowa.

The Synod adjourned.

TWO O'CLOCK P. M.—Synod convened, and resumed the business under consideration at the adjournment in the morning. Considerable discussion was had on this branch of the work. The Synod approved the establishment of the Scandinavian mission school at Keokuk, Iowa.

The resolutions of the Committee on Sabbath Schools were taken up and discussed. They were considerably dissected.

Unfinished business was called up.

The report of the Board of Foreign Missions was adopted as a whole, and ordered to be printed. The resolution requesting the Board of Home Missions to appoint a traveling missionary in the West, especially in the State of Kansas, was presented. Referred to the Board of Home Missions.

The Board of Church Extension was authorized to borrow funds to carry on the mission work in Louisville, Ky.

Synod adjourned with prayer by Rev. Helwig.

The business of the Synod is about closed, and it will doubtless adjourn to-morrow. It has been one of the most harmonious meetings of the General Synod that we have ever seen. The brethren were earnest in their work, and did it well. We hope bright days are coming for the General Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church, and that she may accomplish the work the Master has given her to do. G.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

CANTON, OHIO, June 20, 1873.

The devotional meeting to-day, the last of the Convention, was conducted by Rev. D. Steck. Rev. J. R. Dimm read the scriptures. After the business of the day, which was made short on account of many delegates wanting to leave for home on the afternoon trains, the meeting was closed by D. A. Buehler submitting a resolution, which was adopted, commending the Memorial Church in Washington, and recommending the Synod to request pastors to take up collections in aid of it. It was ordered that one thousand five hundred copies of the minutes of the Convention be published.

Dr. C. A. Hay offered the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That the most cordial thanks of the General Synod are due and are hereby extended to the pastors and members of the English Evangelical Lutheran church in Canton, as also to the citizens generally for the warm hearted hospitality with which its members and visiting friends have been entertained.

Resolved, That the General Synod also expresses its gratitude to the Methodist and Presbyterian churches for the kind offer of their houses of worship in which to hold its evening meetings.

Resolved, That the pastor of the Lutheran Church be requested to communicate the above to his Church, and also publish the same in the city papers.

On the subject as to whether the formula of Church government granted the right of voting to female members of the Church at congregational meeting, it was the sense of the General Synod that all the communing members of the Church have a right to vote at such meeting.

The minutes of the morning session were read and adopted. After singing the 695th hymn the Synod was led in appropriate prayer by Dr. Morris. The long meter dogology having been sung, the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Postman, and the President declared the Synod adjourned to meet on the first Wednesday after Trinity Sunday, 1875.

The St. Louis Business Failures.

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—It is asserted to-day that the amounts telegraphed yesterday as the sums for which the provision dealers here failed on Wednesday were greatly exaggerated. The real loss of the three firms is said to be less than one hundred thousand dollars. All the meat bought by the parties has reverted back to the original owners, and the only real loss involved is the margins on purchases for the future. The figures given yesterday were, however, furnished by the parties themselves, and were supposed to be correct. The failures created no excitement on 'Change, nor have they produced any influence on the markets.

Ex-Police Superintendent John A. Kennedy died in New York yesterday.

WASHINGTON.

THE POLARIS INVESTIGATION.

Relief Expedition Fitting Out.

The New Civil Service Rules.

Definite Concerning Back Pay.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20, 1873.

The Polaris Investigation.

The Secretary of the Navy has received the entire approval of the President in all his actions relative to the Polaris inquiry and the arrangements for the search of the missing steamer. The investigations and the deductions made with the assistance of the rest of the commission are considered as particularly valuable, in giving a dispassionate narrative and review of the expedition up to the time of the separation on October 15th, 1872, or about fourteen months, dating from the time the Polaris left the Congress at Disco. Considering that the party were without written data, the amount of scientific knowledge elicited is pronounced by Professor Baird as important. The rest of the story will be told when Buddington and those with him return. In the meantime, in order to set at rest any speculations, and to forestall any further sensational dispatches, the full testimony has been given to the public. The relief and the search steamers will follow closely on this publication of the official account of this famous Arctic expedition. This will probably be the last Polar exploration conducted by civilians. The discipline of the ship, it is generally admitted, was not sufficiently rigid. The full details of officers for the Juniata and Tigress have been made, and every confidence is felt by the Secretary that some tidings of the Polaris will be obtained before the close of the season of Polar navigation, so that the vessels can return homeward the coming autumn.

The New Rules.

The new rules of the Civil Service Board, officially promulgated, to govern appointments to office, are not considered as intelligible as they might be, and will require the exercise of considerable mental acumen to interpret the meaning of some of the propositions laid down.

Back Pay Intelligence.

The books of the Treasury Department show that the following Senators have returned their back pay:

Henry B. Anthony, Rhode Island; Thomas F. Bayard, Delaware; Zachariah Chandler, Michigan; Eugene Casserly, California; Reuben E. Fenton, New York; Thomas W. Ferry, Michigan; T. D. Frelinghuysen, New Jersey; Hannibal Hamlin, Maine; Daniel D. Pratt, Indiana; Carl Schurz, Missouri; John Scott, Pennsylvania; Charles Sumner, Massachusetts; Allen G. Thurman, Ohio, and Henry Wilson, Massachusetts—14 in all. The above list shows that 8 of the 49 Republicans, 3 of the 7 Liberal Republicans and 3 of the 17 Democrats in the Senate at the time of the vote on the salary question have returned their pay to the Treasury. Mr. Corbett is understood to have given his back pay towards the building of the Washington monument. The total amount of "back pay" returned to the Treasury is $192,017 34.

Subjoined is a complete list of the members of the House of Representatives who up to date have covered their back pay into the Treasury. Quite a number of the names of members who have been generally credited with returning this money do not appear on the books of the Treasury. The number is 32, making a total of 46 Congressmen who have made repayments. The members of the House are as follows (Republicans in Roman and Democrats in Italics):

J. Allen Barber, Wis.
S. S. Cox, N. Y.
John M. Crebs, Ill.
John Coburn, Ind.
Aylett R. Cotton, Iowa.
Wm. P. Frye, Me.
G. A. Finkelnburg, Mo.
C. B. Farwell, Ill.
J. A. Garfield, Ohio.
George A. Halsey, N. J.
John Hill, N. J.
J. R. Hawley, Conn.
J. B. Hawley, Ill.
Eugene Hale, Me.
William S. Holman, Ind.
G. W. Hazleton, Wis.
M. C. Kerr, Ind.
John Lynch, Me.
George W. McCrary, Iowa.
James Monroe, Ohio.
Alex. Mitchell, Wis.
Eli Perry, N. Y.
J. M. Rusk, Wis.
Wm. R. Roberts, N. Y.
H. A. Starkweather, Conn.
W. L. Sessions, N. Y.
P. Sawyer, Wis.
W. Townsend, Penna.
Wm. H. Upson, Ohio.
H. Waldron, Mich.
Wm. A. Wheeler, N. Y.

Of these 25 are Republicans and 7 Democrats. The House, when the Salary bill was passed, was composed of 127 Republicans and 113 Liberal Republicans and Democrats. There have been no returns from the South from either Senators or Representatives, and none of the delegates from the Territories or from the District of Columbia have responded. Maine and Wisconsin are the only States where the majority of the Republicans have sent back their money. Mr. Peters is the only one remaining in Maine, and Mr. Eldridge the only one in Wisconsin. Only 16 States have been heard from either through Senators or Representatives. The Treasury Department has no record of those Congressmen who are said to have founded or assisted orphan asylums, high schools, colleges and churches with their share of the spoils.

Boy Drowned at Dinsmore, Pa.

DINSMORE, PA., June 20, 1873.

A little boy named Linnegan fell into a spring at Dinsmore, Pa., to-day. All signs of life had departed when he was found.

Senator Sherman and His "Back Pay."

CINCINNATI, O., June 20.—The Gazette will publish to-morrow the following letter from Senator John Sherman:

MANSFIELD, OHIO, June 19, 1873.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

I notice in a telegram of yesterday's Gazette in which Gen. Boynton classifies me with the Senators who have not returned their back pay. This is literally true. For as I have not received it, I have not returned it. Still the telegram conveys a false impression. The simple truth is, that within a few days after the passage of the Salary bill, after consulting with some of my colleagues, and in deference to the general sentiments of my constituents, I determined I would not receive the back pay, but would leave it where it now is, in the Treasury of the United States. I so notified the disbursing officer of the Senate, and when asked by any one about the matter I have answered that I would not receive it. I did not and do not now deem it necessary, formally to receive the money and then pay it back again. It was not my purpose to make any public statement of my action in this matter, and I do so now, not from any desire to claim any merit for what I have done, nor even by implication to censure such of my associates, who, though voting against the Salary bill, yet received the pay allowed by it, but simply to assure those who take an interest in the matter that I have not and will not receive any portion of the four thousand three hundred and thirty-six dollars and forty cents allowed me by the Salary bill for "back pay."

Yours truly, JOHN SHERMAN.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Legislative Representation—Adjournment for the Heated Term Discussed.

The Thursday afternoon session of the Constitutional Convention was occupied in discussion of the question of representation in the Legislature. The debate was conducted mainly upon the merits of the county representation plan for the House by which the smaller counties of the State would be entitled to at least one Representative, irrespective of population. It was objected that this would destroy the theory of representation according to population, upon which the House had always been based. The proposition for single legislative districts in the counties of Philadelphia, Allegheny, Schuylkill, and Luzerne also received a fair amount of discussion and opposition. Both propositions were finally lost with the balance of the amendment offered by Mr. Buckalew, the portion of the same adopted on the previous day being reconsidered and rejected. The section agreed to in Committee of the Whole, specifying the details of distribution and apportionment of Representatives in ratio of twenty-five thousand inhabitants to each member, and providing for fractional parts of ratios, and giving the smallest counties each one member, was voted down. An effort to reconcile the difference of opinion on the question having failed, Mr. J. P. Wetherill introduced a section referring the whole of the apportionment, under prescribed regulations, to the Legislature. Without a vote the Convention adjourned.

The whole of yesterday's session was spent in arguing on the resolutions relative to adjourning for the warm spell.

Our Public Schools.

Quite a number of entertainments have been given by the pupils of the different ward schools during the past week. The Lawrence School (15th ward) has given four during the week all of which reflect great credit on the teachers and all connected with the school. The Lawrence School ranks among the first and most efficient schools in the city.

A very interesting and satisfactory examination of the pupils of the Bloomfield Schools (16th ward) Prof. Joyce, Principal, was held yesterday by Superintendent Lucky. Quite a number of parents, educators and directors were present. At the close of the exercises interesting and practical remarks were made Professors Lucky Kelley, and Patterson. This school developed great progress during the past year.

The Lawrence District School.

The closing exhibition of the Lawrence School, Prof. O. B. Gibbon, Principal, was held on Thursday evening last. The hall was crowded, and the audience was well entertained and much pleased. The stage was beautifully decorated, and the management generally exhibited good taste and skill on the part of the teachers. The performances consisted of calisthenics, marching, tableaux, dialogues, select readings and vocal music. The calisthenics, tableaux and marching were the superior features. This school deservedly stands high among the schools of the city, especially for discipline and systematic management.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

GEORGE K. ANDERSON NOMINATED FOR SENATOR IN CRAWFORD COUNTY.

MEADVILLE, PA., June 20, 1873.

George K. Anderson, Esq., was nominated by the Crawford county Republicans, at the primary election yesterday, for the State Senate.

The Republicans of Lancaster county talk of abandoning the Crawford county system of making local nominations. Experience has shown that in the hands of able manipulators it is a fraud upon the people of the worst sort. In every case the party adopting it gets into trouble and is sure to lose ground.

Brown's Bellefontaine Republican suggests that as Hon. Samuel Henry and Hon. George F. Huff cannot both receive the Republican nomination for State Treasurer, one or the other should withdraw.

The Democrats of Clearfield county have nominated the following ticket: Assembly, Dr. T. J. Boyer; Sheriff, W. Ross McPherson; Treasurer, W. W. Worrell; District Attorney, Frank Fielding; Commissioner, Clark Brown; Auditor, I. C. Bloom; Jury Commissioner, John Shugert; Coroner Wm. Tucker.

The Acker and Witte war among the Democrats of Montgomery county still goes on with virulence.

The Republican Convention of Greene county nominated the following ticket: For Assembly, Jacob Rush; Sheriff, Jacob Pennington; Treasurer, Samuel Harvey; Commissioner, Elias Flenniken; Jury Commissioner, Isaac Teagarden; Auditor, Barzilla Stephens; Poor House Director, J. Harvy Braddock; Coroner, John Lantz.

General.

William D. Washburn, Cushman K. Davis, and Thomas A. Armstrong are represented to be the leading candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor of Minnesota.

The Washington Chronicle denies that Speaker Blaine has purchased an interest in that paper "with the view to a candidacy for the Presidency."

The Texas Republican Convention is called to meet at Dallas, August 19. Texas elects a Governor, Legislature, etc., in October.

With Andy Johnson Governor of Tennessee and General Butler Governor of Massachusetts, there would be great danger that the peaceful and friendly relations now existing between these two sovereign States might be interrupted. Voters should think of this.—Springfield Republican.

The New York Evening Post expresses the feelings of a good many other people as well when it says: We feel curious to see what will be the fate of the men concerned in the Congressional larceny who shall have the assurance to present themselves for any elective office in future.

The Detroit Post conclusively summarizes the practical result of "minority representation:" In a close district, under the old system of majority rule, the majority were compelled to nominate a strong candidate in order to win; but under this cumulative voting, minority representation plan, there are no close districts, and whoever is nominated is bound to be elected, two of one party and one of the other party. Consequently a weak, bad candidate, if he can only get the nomination, is just about as sure to be elected as any.

The denial by Governor Kellogg, of Louisiana, of the truth of the pretended interview printed and commented on in the New York Tribune, has thrown that sheet and its Democratic allies into a flutter of excitement. It does not seem to be their publication of this flagrant untruth, but being caught, that gives them trouble.

The Nation remarks that "if anybody was to visit Mr. Tilden or Mr. Seymour to-day, and try to extract from him a statement of Democratic doctrine, he would fail totally. Neither of these gentlemen would venture on any description of its aims or beliefs, and, if pressed hard, would probably escape under cover of denunciation of the policy of the administration in Louisiana."

The Taunton Gazette remarks that, if Butler "wishes to be buried so deep beneath the votes of a Commonwealth that has thought well of him and stood ready to honor him for his proper deserts, but which he has grossly insulted by his foul and noisome conduct at Washington as the organizer of the 'Butler steal' of $1,304,000, that he can never see the dawn of a resurrection to respectability and confidence, let him run for Governor."

Mrs. J. A. Dunniway, of Portland, Oregon, announces herself a candidate for the mayoralty of that city. She thinks it is high time the prejudices of the past are Dunniway with.

Right or wrong, wise or unwise, in accord with the principles of the Order, or diametrically opposed to them, these Grange Lodges are to be dragged into the coming canvass in Iowa in some form. The Democrats are seeking to produce this state of things, and to further their purpose will omit to make nominations, or will indorse whatever nominations are made against the Republican organization. This is the situation, and it is idle for the Republicans to shut their eyes to the fact.—Davenport (Iowa) Gazette.

STATE NEWS.

The Clarion Republican says that a few days ago we were shown a sample of wool sheared from a year old lamb, owned by C. M. Sloan, Esq., of Limestone township. The sheep is of a cross between the Leicester and the Cotswold, and its wool this spring when washed weighed ten and one half pounds and was a foot in length.

A young man named I. P. Canfield committed suicide on the Forest county poor farm, on the 13th inst., by shooting himself through the head. Insanity, brought on by a severe attack of typhoid fever, was the cause.

[illegible]

[illegible] of the 13th inst., Albert Shaul, son of Andrew [illegible] township, Armstrong county, had [illegible] by a log rolling over it, rendering amputation necessary, and it is considered very doubtful if he will recover.

Mr. John Moore met with a terrible accident on the night of the 13th inst. He jumped from a train moving across the bridge over Clearfield creek, in Clearfield county, and fell through the trestle work to the ground below, a distance of sixty feet. He struck on a rock projecting from the ground, tearing his throat from ear to ear, had his nose split open, and was terribly bruised, although no bones were broken. It was thought at first that he could not possibly live, but at last accounts he was improving.

A Pottstown man, visiting Red Wing, Minn., recently on business, was arrested by the police of the place as a bank robber, he answering in every particular, even to the movement of his watch, the description of the person wanted. After a short sojourn in the lock-up, he was enabled to prove his identity and was released.

The action of the Directors of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and of the Lackawanna and Bloomsburg Railroad Companies, in favor of the merging of their roads, has been ratified by the stockholders at a meeting held in Scranton.

The twenty-eighth annual session of the Grand Temple of Honor of Pennsylvania commenced in Altoona on Tuesday. About sixty delegates were present.

There is a doctor in one of our central counties whose name is McKillum. He should petition the Legislature to change it to McCureum.

An insane man who had been in the Franklin county poorhouse for thirty-five years, and for the last eighteen years chained to the floor of a cell, was last week unshackled and allowed to hobble about the yard.

The Harrisburg State Journal says: In conversation with an intelligent horseman, last evening, we learned that there are some five or six horses affected with what our informant termed the "spinal disease, or after attack of epizooty." The horses under his care, he remarked, were affected with stiffness all over, and become stupid and dull—refuse their feed, show symptoms of stiffness in the jaw, have a slight discharge from the nose, get scabby about the head, and the remedies given appear to have no effect upon them after five or six days' trial. Our informant thinks the complaint, or disease, is epidemic, but has not, thus far, heard of any fatal results.

Lock Haven and Watsontown are making extensive preparations to celebrate the Fourth of July.

The employees of the eastern division of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad were paid $65,00 on Monday.

Frederick Hanna, of Williamsport, is expected to die of injuries received from a runaway horse on Monday.

Pennsylvania spends $8,500,000 for public schools, $1,000,000 less than New York, but more than any other State.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, on the 13th instant, executed a mortgage to the Fidelity Insurance and Trust Company, as trustees, for forty millions of dollars on the whole "railroad, branches, property, real and personal, the corporate rights and franchises of every nature whatsoever" used for operating the company's railroads, for the purpose of retiring the present outstanding debt and furnishing means for additional facilities demanded by the increased business of the company. The bonds, 40,000 in all, are of the denomination of $1,000 each, bearing six per cent. interest, payable semi-annually in June and December, free of all tax, the bonds to run fifty years, being redeemable in 1923.

A Spaniard employed in the railroad shops at Altoona, went to the woods on Wednesday and attempted to commit suicide by opening an artery in his arm. Luckily for him, he was discovered before too late, his arm dressed, and he is now in a fair way to recover.

Katie Curry, aged eight, fell through from the attic to the first floor of a building in course of erection in Altoona, a distance of twenty feet, but escaped with but slight injuries.

The Police Telegraph.

As we have already reported, prompt action is necessary on the part of the Police Committee with reference to the telegraph for the police department. Yesterday the Mayor was informed that the Fire Commission had severed the connection of the police dials with the alarm wires. There is now no communication except by street cars with the Twelfth and Seventeenth ward station houses. Doubtless the Police Committee will be called together soon and at once order a separate wire. The delay will work no harm while there will be greater security felt regarding fires in the districts named.

Fall of an Embankment.

Yesterday afternoon a named Bernard Williams was badly injured by the fall of an embankment on Penn avenue near Forty-first street. He was employed with others digging out gravel to the right of the avenue and a mass of earth fell upon him crushing him dangerously. He was taken to the Western Pennsylvania Hospital and properly cared for. It is feared he will not recover.

Frankfort Springs.

This very desirable watering place is now open for boarders, and those who desire a pleasant summer resort, of easy access to the city, cannot do better than secure rooms here. The hotel has been enlarged and refitted, and the place is admirably adapted for healthful and comfortable living. The medicinal properties of the spring water are well known, and the natural scenery is inviting and picturesque. See card in another column.

Fire in Allegheny.

About three o'clock yesterday afternoon an alarm of fire was given from box 7, Allegheny city, caused by the burning of a wardrobe in the residence of W. C. Cook, Esq., corner of Sheffield and Manhattan streets. Mrs. Cook, in endeavoring to put out the flames, had her hands and face severely burned. The loss was less than one hundred dollars.

The Allegheny Poor Board

held a meeting last evening, for the purpose of choosing an engineer for the City Home. After several ballots Mr. Frank McMasters was elected. Some other business of an uninteresting nature was transacted, after which the meeting adjourned.

THE EDGEWOOD RAILROAD COMPANY.

Preliminary Injunction Granted—New Bond to be Filed by the Company To-Day.

Judge Kirkpatrick, of the District Court, yesterday announced the decision on the motion for a preliminary injunction, made on behalf of the Pennsylvania Institute for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb, to enjoin the Edgewood Railroad Company from constructing their track over ground alleged to belong to the institution, near Edgewood Station, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. His Honor remarked that he had not written an opinion, as intended, but stated that the injunction had been based on these grounds:

First—That the complainants had such a title, coupled with possession, as would give them the right to invoke the agency of a Court of Equity, being just such a title as a Chancellor would enforce as between them and James Kelly.

Second—That the injury complained of was irreparable and for which no damages would be any adequate compensation.

Third—That in a strife between franchises the franchise prior in date should prevail unless there were convincing reasons to the contrary, which, in the judgment of the Court, did not exist in this case.

His Honor stated that his first impressions were adverse to the granting of the injunction, more especially upon the grounds last urged, which struck him when first suggested by complainants' counsel as novel and undeniable. But further examination and reflection had led him to a different conclusion, and he was of the opinion that the preliminary injunction should be allowed to abide the other and further order of the Court.

Counsel for the defendants were considerably taken aback by this decision, as they supposed they had a "sure thing" on the law. They have prepared a bond, in the sum of $50,000, with two sureties, for the purpose of making good to the complainants any damage which they may sustain, and will present the same for approval, in the Court of Common Pleas, this morning. Defendants counsel deny that the complainants have a title, and had previously given bond in the sum of $25,000 to indemnify James Kelley, who, they contend, is the owner of the ground. The sum named in the new bond is held to be far above any damage which the institution could sustain, but it is tendered to show the willingness of the company to make full indemnity for any damage. What action the opposing counsel may take in reference to this bond, remains to be seen. If they except to its approval, the merits of the case may become subject to inquiry in this Court.

THE Mexican war veterans of St. Louis have permanently organized for the purpose of urging upon Congress their claims for pensions. The organization promises to be an effective one. Why cannot those of Pittsburgh go to work in earnest?

Prompt Payment of County Taxes Saves Five Per Cent.

Taxpayers having accounts to settle with County Treasurer Kilgore would do well to remember that they can save themselves five per cent. by striking a balance and settling at his office before the 1st of August. On and after that date five per cent. additional will go on, so that it is to the interest of citizens to call at the Court House before that time and satisfy the demands entered against their names upon the books.

The Daily Commercial.

SATURDAY, JUNE 21, 1873.

George Handy Smith, of Philadelphia, is wanted at Johnstown. The editor of the Mountain Voice is after him with a sharp stick, and if George is about, in that region, he might make it handy to call and "see" him.

We call attention to the able and lucid argument, in our paper to-day, of Mr. Shiras, on the Equalization question, as delivered on the hearing of the case in Court. It presents the city's side of that question with great force and clearness.

The Shah of Persia is prohibited, by etiquette, from ever walking up stairs, and he is therefore reduced to the necessity of sleeping perpetually on the ground floor. To get in on the first floor has always been regarded as a high privilege in Pennsylvania.

We are indebted to the Rev. Dr. E. C. Wines for a copy of the Report of the International Penitentiary Congress of London, held July 3-13, 1872, and the Second Annual Report of the National Prison Association, containing the transactions of the Prison Reform Congress, held at Baltimore, January 21-24, 1873.

The people of Beaver county ought to be profoundly glad over the departure of the Chinese from among them. We are content to let San Francisco and New Orleans enjoy the exclusive luxury of fighting out the Chinese quarrel. Beaver was not the proper ground for settling that problem, and the Chinese acted wisely in getting away from there.

Whenever financial speculation lagged or grew dull, in New York, in Secretary Boutwell's time, it was sure to be quickened into activity by rumors of Boutwell's resignation. There was scarcely a week that Boutwell was not going to resign. Things must be going very slow on 'Change, just now, therefore, for rumors now fly off in clouds from Wall street that Richardson is going to resign.

Elsewhere in this morning's Commercial we print a circular from the Hon. T. J. Bigham, in regard to the Mechanics' High School of Pennsylvania, provided for by a law passed at the recent session of the Legislature. This act, it is recited, "contemplates the selection of a site at some great manufacturing or mining center." What place in the State presents greater claims as a location for the institution than Pittsburgh?

At the instance of the counsel for the defense in the Clem murder case, the editors of the Indianapolis Journal have been cited before the Supreme Court to show cause why they should not be attached for contempt in commenting pretty severely upon the decision of the Court in granting Mrs. Clem a new trial. If the Supreme Court of that State, however, has any regard for itself it will religiously abstain from attempting to punish the Journal for discussing its acts. There is no Court in the United States strong enough to put down the press, or restrain it in the exercise of its rights.

The merchants of this city, with a commendable desire to further its commercial interests, have called a meeting to form a Board of Trade, on the 26th inst. Forty years ago there was a Board of Trade here which had a useful existence of several years, and this institution has had several successors; but for several years past we have had no organization of the kind. It is high time that we had. A city as large as Pittsburgh is, and with a commerce such as she has, cannot conveniently get along without a Board of Trade. We hope, therefore, to see a full turn-out of merchants on the 26th. The call is very numerously signed, and that gives token of a lively interest in the success of the new project.

Vulgar fractions in representation is the latest Constitutional problem. The clause fixing the basis of representation in the Legislature, as adopted by the Constitutional Convention, provides that the Senate shall consist of fifty members, with a term of four years each, one-fourth of whom shall go out every year, and that no city or county shall elect more than one-sixth of the whole number. The one-fourth of fifty is twelve and a half, and the one-sixth eight and a third; so that under this new instrument twelve and a half Senators will go out every year, and Philadelphia is entitled to eight and a third Senators. How the Senators are to be divided up into halves and thirds is not prescribed in the Constitution, itself, and we fear it will be one of those things which no fellow can find out.

PESSIMISM.

A writer in a recent number of the Cornhill Magazine prefers a terrible indictment against the British civilization of the present day. The dwelling houses, with their bad drainage, unscientific ventilation, unhealthy accommodations for servants by day as well as by night; with their wasteful grates, insufficient water supply, inadequate heating apparatus, putrid wallpapers and general conditions contemptuous of the laws of health, form the count with which the writer sets out. Perhaps, being regarded as the weakest count, it is placed first that the assault may assume the form and carry the force of a climax. Dress, society and its arrangements, funerals with their silly pomp, marriages with their vain display, the system of service with its general oppression of the weak by the strong, the dangerous classes made inevitable through the folly and carelessness of the classes whom they injure, religion with its formulas void of spirit and separate from morals; these are a few of the topics briefly passed in review to illustrate the essential rottenness of the civilization into which they enter as elements. It is a repulsive and discouraging picture, drawn apparently for the purpose of snubbing noisy, boastful Philistines rather than with the view of suggesting or stimulating social reforms. It is, in truth, not easy to believe that an observer gifted with so sharp an eye for defects, for detecting evil even in things good, could take much interest in the most rational measures for the improvement of the civilization which seems to him so deficient. We cannot fancy him ignorant of the former condition of English society. He must be supposed to know somewhat about the England of a hundred years ago, of the England which used to stone John Wesley and bespatter Whitefield with rotten eggs. If an old man he may even be able to return in memory to the time when most of the social, political, and legal reforms for which millions remember their promoters with gratitude, had not even been thought of. An Englishman who after comparing the present with the past of his country, sees chiefly evil in the English civilization of to-day, must be an inveterate pessimist, from whom the cause of reform has nothing to hope for.

Whatever truth British readers may find in the Cornhill diatribe, most American readers will probably congratulate themselves on the comparative exemption of their civilization from the deformities charged upon the English. Though our houses are not all perfect, the ignorance of the past being everywhere recorded in the solid materials of their construction, the tendency, fast becoming stronger and more general, plainly is to adopt and practically apply, as means and circumstances permit, all the improvements in building suggested by science and experience. Among the class who give tone and direction to American progress the importance of systematic drainage, ventilation, etc., is duly recognized. And so we might go over the entire catalogue, taking up each weighty charge of the indictment, and find little difficulty in showing that it does not apply to cis-Atlantic life. True, it may be alleged that our civilization is too young to have developed the faults in question, and it is quite possible that some of them may appear with the lapse of time. But from others and the most offensive on the list we may feel reasonably confident of perpetual freedom in virtue of our republican system.

Mr. Fitzjames Stephen, in his book—"Liberty, Equality, Fraternity,"—does not think that "the rapid production in America of an immense multitude of commonplace, self-satisfied and essentially slight people is an exploit which the whole world need fall down and worship." And Mr. Stephen, in the interest of a different system, has written a book of three hundred and fifty pages, chiefly for the purpose of belaboring the principles which, practically applied, have produced the results so slightly regarded. The first and the last of the epithets used by him contemptuously to characterize the American people are, we fancy, applicable to every nation under the sun. In comparison with individuals exceptionally gifted intellectually and favored by fortune, the mass of every people are of course commonplace and essentially slight." But the other adjective, "self-satisfied," applied to denote a national trait, indicates a real distinction, and by itself implies a world of qualities and conditions nowhere else found together. In consequence of the prevalence of liberty, equality and fraternity, all have equal interest and equal motives in organizing, regulating and controlling their mutual relations, and in correcting the abuses and evils which, whether incidentally or as the result of malignant will, interfere with the common good. Hence, though such deformities as the Cornhill writer denounces, may spring up in our civilization, they are necessarily transient.

And yet pessimists may be said to abound among us, people who criticise not with a view to correction or reform but for the mere expression of their own discontent, and who seem to find pleasure in looking at and pointing out the dark side of things. As somebody has said, doubtless such people would be met with even in Utopia. We do not, however, wish to be understood as maintaining that our social and political state is one of perfect health and loveliness, or as denying that our civilization is marred by serious blots and defects. But there is no use in looking at them through magnifying glasses.

Thus one constantly meets with persons who entertain very exaggerated notions of the prevalence of crime in the country. Looking back a few years they recollect the time when the report of a murder or other crime of violence was an event in their lives, and they shudder at the contrast presented by the present, when a column of their morning paper may be filled with accounts of such atrocities. They forget the mere increase of population, especially by immigration; they also fail to take account of the facilities of intercommunication afforded by the telegraph, which make the morning paper a chronicle of the noteworthy acts and sufferings of forty millions of people. Allowance ought also to be made for the natural increase of crime consequent upon recent war, not only in this country but in other countries whose surplus inhabitants are being constantly poured upon our shores. Hence there is nothing monstrous or abnormal in the fact which by some is regarded with so much alarm.

There seems just as little ground for despondency in view of the recent multiplication of offenses against integrity. Some anxiety on account of the evil is, no doubt, legitimate, as it may inspire efforts of a preventive nature, especially in the direction of education, but sweeping invectives against the national character and prophecies of progressive moral deterioration in the American people, should be left to those foreigners who find comfort in such exercise of the imagination. Considering that America is literally the only country in Christendom in which there is no idle class with recognized position and privileges, as the entire population are engaged in the work of bettering their condition, and then reflecting on the extraordinary opportunities of irregular gain presented at every corner and in almost all departments of business, one cannot help concluding that the instances of rascality have been fewer than might reasonably have been expected. The opportunities referred to have often been results of a peculiarly American confidence or absence of vigilance in business management. The future will doubtless make a better show. For after all, the mass of the nation are as soundly honest as ever, not even aware of the temptation to be otherwise; despising rogues with more than hereditary cordiality and therefore quite qualified to impress upon the rising generation the lessons so emphatically taught by the prevalent relaxation in important business centers of the country; a relaxation which citizens in the future will look back upon as one of the phenomena of a state of transition.

Another of the blots which pessimists point to on our civilization is our Shoddy aristocracy, as it is opprobriously called. It ought, perhaps, rather to be regarded as one of our American glories, and to be decorated with a respectful name. Certainly, to groan over it is a foolish waste of emotion, which might easily receive a profitable direction. Shoddy aristocracy is a necessary phenomenon of financial and social development, inevitably springing up whenever and wherever wealth can be rapidly acquired by persons who have not learned, perhaps have not had the opportunity of learning, how to spend their money gracefully in a social way. But the Shoddy people try to be elegant, and even superfine, and is not even failure noble in great and worthy attempts? Then what harm do they do? They do much good. Their coarse and tawdry displays afford wholesome stimulus to a portion of the observant public, while another less amiable section find them a source of much amusement. To both classes the Shoddy are benefactors.

The Pennsylvania House of Representatives, under the new Constitution, if it is adopted (significant if), is to consist of 150 members. The ratio of representation is to be ascertained by dividing the total population by 150; but each county shall be entitled to one representative; counties with one representative ratio shall be entitled to a second member for three-fifths of a second ratio; counties with two members and four-fifths of a ratio shall be entitled to a third member, and counties with three or more ratios shall be entitled to one member for each ratio of population.

Under the last census, the ratio would be 23,445; but Cameron county, with 4,273 of a population, Forest with 4,010, Elk with 8,488, Fulton with 9,360, McKean with 8,825, Pike with 8,436, Sullivan with 6,191, Potter with 11,265, Wyoming with 14,585, Union with 15,565, Snyder with 15,606, Montour with 15,344, Mifflin with 17,508, and Juniata with 17,390—fourteen counties would each have a representative, although jointly their population would entitle them to but seven. This would necessarily raise the ratio to 24,742; and the provisions for additional members for a three-fifths or four-fifths ratio, would raise it still higher. Philadelphia would have twenty-five members, and Allegheny ten; that is, the fourteen counties given above, with a population of 156,846, would have fourteen members, and Allegheny with a population of 262,204 would have but ten.

There is no equality in this, and no fairness. Why should 4,010 people in Forest county have the same political power as 26,537 people in the adjoining county of Clarion? Why should the 4,273 residents of Cameron county equal the 25,741 of Clearfield, or the 34,418 of Centre? And why should Fulton, with but 9,360 people, have as much legislative power as Bedford with 29,635? This is a total destruction of the principle of popular government, and bases representation upon county lines, rather than upon population.

Again, under the three-fifth and four-fifth ratios, Franklin, with 45,365 population, would get two members; Erie with 65,973 would get no more, and so on, through the entire list. Inequality marks it throughout, and to us it seems the unfairest method of apportionment that could possibly be found.

The freight schedules of the Illinois railroads, under the new law of that State, prohibiting unjust discrimination in such rates, have just been published. They go into effect July 1st. The Chicago Times says:

> "An examination of the tables shows that for all local traffic, and upon all shipments from either end of the road to stations not more than one hundred and twenty miles distant, the rates are very considerably increased, while upon shipments to more distant stations the rates are not very considerably reduced. Upon an average, the rates fixed by the Chicago and Alton Road under the new law are very considerably higher than the old rates. And yet the managing officers of the Alton Company declare, with a good deal of emphasis, that they have acted in perfectly good faith, under a fixed determination to conform strictly to the provisions of the law, and with no intent or disposition to establish rates with a view to rendering the law odious.
>
> "The Times gives them the benefit of this declaration, and yet is constrained to doubt if the fact is so.
>
> "It seems, therefore, that there is some ground for the opinion that the railroad companies are not trying, and don't mean to try, to give a fair and honest test of the new statute; but, on the contrary, that they are maliciously seeking to make the act odious, without regard to its merits or demerits. It is the greatest mistake the railroad companies could make."

The railroads of that State had an excellent opportunity to break down all opposition to them, among the farmers, by meeting the latter half-way, and regulating the rates of freight in the spirit of the law passed for that purpose. Lower rates of freight, gauged according to distance and no discrimination, would have satisfied the people; but the railroads have lost the opportunity, and have taken a course that must precipitate a fight in which they are sure to come off second best in the end. To have yielded gracefully, at first, would have been both prudent and wise, while to fight a fight in which they cannot win is foolish beyond comparison.

A somewhat peculiar insurance case has just been tried before Judge Withey at Grand Rapids, Mich. A Mr. Roberts had a large collection of paintings, which were catalogued as having a value of $40,000. They were insured in the Home of New York for $9,700, and were totally destroyed by fire in 1871. The company neglecting or refusing to pay, Roberts brought suit; the company then offered to pay him one-third the amount of the policy. At this juncture a Mr. Luce, upon being informed of the state of the case, declared it an outrage, and agreed to pay Roberts the amount offered by the company, and all in excess that he might collect. Roberts thereupon assigned the policy to Luce, who brought suit as assignee. The company employed as their attorneys to defend the suit the same firm which Roberts had engaged to prosecute it. A large number of witnesses were brought from all parts of the country to testify as experts, several going from Chicago. The trial lasted nearly a week, and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff for the whole amount of the policy. The defendants, it seems, offered a large amount of evidence to show that the pictures were of little value as works of art; but the plaintiff claimed that, independent of any value they might have had as works of art, they had a commercial value as pictures, and that value they claimed, and to the extent of the policy they got a verdict.

In the bottom of the Solomon river, in Kansas, near its confluence with the Smoky, have been discovered springs of coal oil bubbling up, and there is great excitement in that section.

AT THE GARDEN GATE.

Somebody came to the garden gate,
While a soft hand trimmed the flowers;
And a blackbird piped to his listening mate
In language as rich as ours.

Somebody blushed at the garden gate—
A blush it was fair to see;
And the sly sun peered as he fain would wait,
And the blackbird paused on the tree.

Somebody spoke at the garden gate,
As the shadows began to fall;
And the rose looked up, though the hour was late,
And the peach blushed pink on the wall.

A sweet head fell at the garden gate
On an arm that was strong and true;
And chirrup of lips was heard to state
What words refused to do.

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR.

Out pour the organ-tones. Like floods of light
Of purest color, rich and full and deep,
The surging sound-waves seem to swell and sweep
My soul up with them to their cresting height.
Then far into the dark, translucent deep
Of full majestic purple, clearest green,
And coolest blue, my soul sinks with a keen
Delight adown the tone-flood's shudd'ring steep.
Whence gazing up into the quiv'ring maze
Of color—azure, scarlet, purple, gold,
Deep violet, green—my rapt soul grows more bold,
And, floating upward thro' the shimmering haze,
Attains undazzled to the perfect White,
The shadeless Glory of the Infinite.

At the sale of the Perkins library, at Haworth Park, near London, extraordinary prices were realized. A Mazarin Bible on vellum brought £3,400, equal to $21,400 in American currency—probably the highest price ever paid for a single volume. The entire sale realized $136,000.

Count Pourtales, of the United States Coast Survey, reports that the oysters in the beds about New York are steadily diminishing in number, and expresses the opinion that the supply of the bivalves may eventually cease altogether.

When a murder is committed in a New York hotel the effect upon the business of the house is good. The Grand Central has prospered wonderfully since Fisk was shot there, and since the murder of Walworth, Sr., by Walworth, Jr., at the Sturtevant House, that hotel has been full to overflowing. People who open hotels in Gotham should take the hint, and keep a first class assassin about.

Warren county, Virginia, promises to rank as an iron producing county at no distant time. Mr. O. F. Mason has leased the mining interest on the farm of Mr. James Marshall, and gone to work to develope the ore. A competent English mineralogist pronounces a spur of the Blue Ridge, called Green Hill, to be a vast iron mountain. Colonel Imboden, a brother of the General's, is developing the ore on the place of Mr. Larkin Lake.

The World, of San Diego, mentions an instance where the workmen grading for a railway near that city came upon a colony of tarantulas. These venomous spiders attacked the Irishmen and actually drove the men into the water, the only safe retreat against those animals.

The Houghton (Lake Superior) Mining Gazette says that, on the 8th inst., the mercury there reached ninety in the shade, and the mosquitoes were lively, full voiced, and more than numerous. On the same day there was ice enough in Marquette bay to interfere with the progress of a steamer.

The congregation of the only church at Mount Washington, Mass., consisting of one old lady, has unanimously resolved to consolidate itself with the neighboring parish of South Egremont to save the expense of a pastor's salary.

A very curious and interesting paper will appear in this month's number of the Fortnightly, showing that the art of photography was discovered and practiced with success in London a century ago, but suppressed at the instance of the government, which feared that if it became known it would be employed by forgers and counterfeiters of bank notes. The writer of the article tells his story well, and backs up his statement by proofs that seem conclusive, among them the existence of photographs taken one hundred and ten years ago, and now in the South Kensington Museum.

San Francisco land speculators, says an exchange, have been in the habit, after getting up some kind of a trumpery claim to a piece of land, and taking possession under it, of causing or suffering it to be sold for taxes, and then buying it in so as to strengthen his title. But the Courts have lately decided that this little game won't work; that, if a man claims to own a piece of property, it is his duty to pay the taxes on it, and if he fails to do so, and buys it in after suffering it to be sold for his default, he does not thereby strengthen his title in the least. Which is good common sense, we take it, as well as good law, in California or elsewhere.

The hail storm of Saturday, in Vernon, Conn., was one of the severest ever experienced in that region. Three feet of hail surrounded dwellings, where it rolled off the roofs. Glass was broken, rye fields, strawberry beds and even grass fields were destroyed. Birds were picked up dead, having been killed by the violence of the storm.

The master-sailmaker of the Charlestown, Mass., Navy Yard is engaged in repairing the identical flag alluded to in the song of the "Star Spangled Banner," which waved over Fort McHenry in 1814.

We measure everything by comparison. No wonder the dwellers in the region of the Sierra Nevada are not "carried away" by their first view of the Alps. And this is the comment a correspondent of the Sacramento Union made upon his first view of the famous Dover Cliffs of England: "The famous chalk cliffs were not as white as a Nevada alkali flat and as for height—why compared with the Sierras or the Coast Range, or even Telegraph Hill, the cliffs of Dover are mere holes in the beach."

Much ado is making in some of the New York journals about a fatal case of yellow fever, which occurred about two weeks ago in an Eldridge street tenement house. The allegation is that the Board of Health has been concealing it, and that the disease is making further progress, but there is the best authority for saying that the latter statement is wholly unfounded. It is officially admitted that the case in question was yellow fever, but there has been no second case and no concealment.

PERSONAL.

A New York correspondent writes that A. T. Stewart, warned by his recent illness, will not devote now half as many hours as he previously did to business.

Jefferson Davis is said by a newspaper correspondent to be writing a book. There is reason to suspect that he will, in common with other writers of the day, discuss somewhat at length the follies of female attire.

Nothing, says Elisee Reclus, can convey a more impressive idea of the tremendous power of water as a natural agent than the wonderful canons of Mexico, Texas and the Rocky mountains, where the torrent may be seen rushing along, through the incision it has cut out for itself in the hard rock, at the depth of several thousand feet between perpendicular walls. The greatest of these canons, that of the Colorado, is 298 miles in length, and its sides rise perpendicularly to a height of 5,000 or 6,000 feet.

Dr. Hammond, of New York, claims that the seeds of cholera exist always in the human excrements, and only need certain conditions of heat and moisture to germinate into an epidemic. If this be true, the world is indebted to Dr. Hammond for a new and most important discovery.

Liberality ought always to be commended. When it becomes munificent in its character it deserves public mention. We notice that Jeff Davis has sent $10 to the Mobile cadets to erect a monument to the Confederate dead. The monument is to be erected at once and paid for, the balance of the $10 to go to be invested as an educational fund for Confederate orphans.

Bakram Kahn, the murderer of the British Major Macdonald, is to be killed on sight, by order of the Ameer of Afghanistan. But Bakram can't be seen.

The last survivor of the Harvard class of 1802, which numbered among its members President Allen, of Bowdoin College, Governor Levi Lincoln, Leverett Saltonstall, the Rev. Dr. John Codman, Samuel Hoar, and others, died last Monday in Boston, in the person of William Minot, aged ninety.

MacMahon's Cabinet contains five journalists. They sympathize with the "write," probably.

Among the attractions for the coming season at Nahant will be an even dozen of the Harvard professors, half of whom, it is guaranteed, shall wear glasses and be bald.

A Washington letter-writer says that Attorney General Williams owes whatever he is politically and officially to his energetic and clever wife, who has no equal among her own sex and no superior among the other as a working, every-day politician.

An elderly person named Laing having resumed business and opened shop in an interior town, the local paper is reminded thereby of "Auld Laing's sign."

The Danbury News man recently in San Francisco, did not like the California style of making change, and asked if it was customary there "to charge five cents commission for handling a half dollar."

"Got any medicine?" asked a boy, entering a drug store the other day. "Yes, lots of it. What do you want?" inquired the clerk. "Oh, it don't make any difference, so that it's something lively. Dad is fearful bad." "What ails him?" asked the clerk. "Dunno," said the boy; "but he's run down orful. He just sits around the stove all day and mopes; he hasn't walloped mother since Christmas. I guess he's going to die!"

The New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial writes: "The three richest men in America are Wm. B. Astor, A. T. Stewart, and Commodore Vanderbilt—all residents of New York city. Astor's wealth is mainly in real estate and its revenues; Vanderbilt's is mainly in railroad stocks and their dividends; Stewart's is in goods, houses, stores, factories, lands and stocks. The aggregate wealth of each one of them is supposed to be somewhere between seventy-five and a hundred millions, which looks rather heavy. Nobody knows exactly; they couldn't tell themselves within a million or two.

From Bayard Taylor's Florence letter to the New York Tribune: "The other day, crossing the Ponte Trinita, I met his ex-majesty, Don Amadeo of Spain. He was walking alone, and had a bunch of violets in his button-hole. He looked neither to the right nor to the left as he passed me; his vacant eyes stared into vacancy. His face was pale, haggard, and positively unhappy, and I could not help feeling a foolish sympathy with a disappointment which is so real to him, and so very unreal to most other persons."

M. Guizot says that Frenchmen are sceptical on matters of religion, but they like to see their wives and children devout. It may be doubted whether the idea is confined to France.

Dr. Dio Lewis says that, while the saddle is the best exercise in the world for a man, especially one in consumption or severe dyspepsia, he has no hesitation in saying that until women can ride astride, with free, healthful dress, they had best shun this exercise altogether.

A father of fifty children is vouched for by one of the most trustworthy and respected citizens of Waco, Texas, in a letter to the Advance, of that place, which says that by his first wife he had thirteen children; by his second, eighteen; by his third, ten; by his fourth, six; and by his fifth and surviving wife, three; and that thirty-five of this numerous progeny are alive—eight having been lost in the rebel army, and seven having died natural deaths.

PITTSBURGH THE PLACE.

The Mechanics High School of Pennsylvania.

The last Legislature passed a bill, recently signed by the Governor, chartering an institution for the education of our youth in the various branches of science and practical mechanics, to be called the Mechanics' High School of Pennsylvania. This act contemplates the selection of a site at some great manufacturing or mining center, and the appointment of professors and teachers to educate our youth in the arts required to successfully conduct our mining and manufacturing establishments. The persons selected as Trustees are either themselves engaged in these branches, or known to be in actual sympathy with a thorough practical education therein.

The Trustees met at Harrisburg on the first Tuesday of June, and temporarily organized. The Governor, who signed the bill, made this condition: That the interests to be chiefly benefited should provide the means to erect buildings and organize this school as part and parcel of the public school system, after the manner of other High Schools.

On behalf of this Board, I therefore invite any and all communities desiring the location of such a school in their midst, to send me, at Harrisburg, any communication or proposition on the subject, to be laid before the Board on the first Tuesday of August, when it next meets.

THOMAS J. BIGHAM,
Secretary of the Board.

The Case of Senator Mitchell.

[From the New York Graphic.]

Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, has explained. He did not flee from Pennsylvania to escape the payment of his debts; and, although his exit was made with his partner's money, there seems to have been an excellent understanding between them, and the money was repaid. There is no doubt of it, for his partner says so, and Representative Purviance and Senator Cameron endorse his character. He fled from domestic difficulties which he did not explain, but which so depressed and demoralized him generally that he wanted to escape the memory of them, and dropped his father's name, which was Hipple, and took his mother's name, which was Mitchell. Whether the change helped him to escape from himself and cut his historic connections, and abolish his recollection of things disagreeable, he does not tell us, but thinks it was a mere indiscretion, done without thought at a season of great mental perturbation, which an honest, useful, honorable career since ought to atone for. Perhaps it had. We don't blame him for wishing to escape out of a domestic frying-pan, nor for wishing to get rid of the "Hipple." In fact, in this he showed most excellent taste. Mitchell is a vast improvement. We don't wonder that he has done better since he adopted it. And it would seem hard to have this circumstance pressed against him now, since he has made the new name sweet and honorable by an upright and useful course. It is what a man makes himself, and not what he made himself out of, that we are concerned with. Better let "Hipple" rest in his grave, and stick to the Mitchell.

Fred. Bickers, of Decatur, Ill., discharged a pistol at his father for using offensive language to him, and then blew out his own brains. Fred. must indeed have been insane—not because he bulletted his projenitor, but because he committed suicide. Inspired by that spirit of "Reform" which knows no North nor South nor East nor West, but pervades our whole beloved land like an impartial malaria, the time has fully arrived for children to get up in their might and resent the tyranny of parental rule. An ancient idiot named Solomon has too long been permitted to bespatter the world with false doctrine. What saith he to the prolific mother? "Thy children shall arise and call thee blessed." Solomon was an ass. They will simply arise and brain her with a rolling pin. The campaign has commenced with parricide—who shall question its consistency if it is followed up with matricide?—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Poisoning the Sick.

There never was a specialty in medicine that was not pirated. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is no exception to the general rule. Fraud follows in the track of the Great Vegetable Restorative as it makes the circle of the world, and offers its pernicious imitations to the sick at every turn, anxious to drench the public with their trash. The imitators and counterfeiters offer it by the gallon, as well as by the bottle. Beware of this deluge of abominations. Bear in mind that the true article is sold in bottles only, and the impress of genuineness is to be found upon the glass itself as well as upon the finely engraved government stamp and the elegant label. The great vegetable tonic prevents and cures all bilious disorders and complaints of the digestive organs and the nervous system, maladies upon which the vile imitations produce no more effect than the Pope's Bull upon the comet.

You can bet your bottom dollar—That there exists no case of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Swelling, or Stiff Joints, which the Centaur Liniment, white wrapper, will not alleviate and cure.

Mark the difference. It is the Centaur Liniment, yellow wrapper, which is again placing so many used-up horses in the harness. We care not whether the case be Spavins, Sweeney, Scratches, Strains, or any Swelling—the effect is simply wonderful.

Children Cry—for Pitcher's Castoria. It regulates the stomach, cures wind colic and causes natural sleep. It is a substitute for castor oil. TThS

PEARL WHEAT IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST
Delicious, Wholesome and Nourishing
Preparation of nature's great food ever produced. Essentially nothing but the woody fibre and a portion of the water are removed by the process, leaving all the starch, gluten and the greatest part of the mineral substances (phosphates), all that is nourishing in the wheat. The removal of the woody fibre makes it far more palatable than the various preparations of wheat now in the market. No other article of food contains such proper proportions of the requirements of the whole human system. To those suffering from INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, and to persons of sedentary habits, it will prove invaluable. As a BREAKFAST DISH it is unequaled. Our best physicians here say it is of more importance than anything else that can be found. Try it once and you will never be without it. Ask your Grocer or Druggist for a Package. FINANCE AND TRADE.

FRIDAY EVENING, June 20, 1873.

To-day has created no change in the local market, and all branches of finance are quite featureless.

—The story of the death of Horace F. Clark, which was rumored on the 18th, and had the effect of depressing Union Pacific to 24¼, is confirmed, although Mr. Clark lingered until to-day. As the son-in-law of Commodore Vanderbilt, and as President of the Lake Shore and Union Pacific Roads, and a prominent operator in Western Union, his death will be severely felt by the interests which he directly represented.

—There is considerable speculation among bankers and business men as to the probable course of the money market during the coming fall, and the fact that there is an almost universal indisposition to grant long loans would indicate that a renewal in the autumn of the troubles we experienced in the spring may be expected. A proximate solution of the financial problem would be very desirable, inasmuch as the course of the market must have an important bearing on the fall trade. The trade of last spring resulted with little profit to most dealers, owing to the unprecedented stringency of the money market, and what happened then is as likely to be repeated in three or four months, unless some effective means be adopted to deprive special interests of the control of the money market.

—Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co. report the following quotations of government bonds in New York to-day, as furnished them by Jay Cook & Co., their correspondent:

—James T. Brady & Co., corner of Fourth avenue and Wood street, quoted United States securities in New York to-day as follows:

Gold	115⅜
United States 6s of 1881	121¼
United States 5-20s of 1862	115⅝
United States 5-20s of 1864	116

United States 5-20s, January and July, 1868	119¾
Currency Pacifics	114⅛

—The following are extracts from the opinion of the Missouri Supreme Court in the case of Ewing C. Ketchum vs. the American Merchants' Union Express Company:

The special contract alluded to states in substance that in consideration of one dollar and that defendant would carry the glass at the usual tariff rates and without extra charge, that plaintiff released the defendant for all loss or damage to the glass while being carried from New York to St. Louis, and while in defendant's possession; and that plaintiff agreed to indemnify and save harmless the defendant from all claims made by any consignee of said glass for loss or damage to the same while in defendant's possession or charge. The bill of lading stated that all glass was carried at owner's risk; the receipts given by the plaintiff for glass when he received it from defendant in St. Louis state the plaintiff received the glass from defendant in good order. This evidence showed that one box of glass was broken when it was delivered to plaintiff; that there was an indentation in the box, such as would be caused by coming in contact with some sharp corner or object, and that the glass was shivered in all directions from that point.

It is well settled that a common carrier may limit his common law liability by a special contract with the shipper, and it is equally well settled that such special contract cannot be pleaded by the carrier as an exemption from liability for any loss or damage resulting from his own negligence. The only remaining question, then, is as to the burden of proof. The bill of lading in the case at bar contained a stipulation that "glass" (among other things therein named) "will be taken only at owner's risk." The special freight contract contained a stipulation to the effect that the defendant and the railroads connected therewith "are released from liability for breakage of all kinds of glass," &c. Proof of injury to the goods by breakage, nevertheless, made out a prima facie case of negligence against the defendant, and the onus was on it to show the exercise of due care and vigilance on its part to prevent the injury.

—The following table shows the prices of railway stocks, gold, &c., at the various sessions of the New York Stock Exchange during the day, furnished by George I. Whitney, Esq., broker and dealer in stocks, bonds and gold, corner of Fifth avenue and Wood street:

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, FRIDAY, June 20, 1873.

REMARKS.—The weather continues excessively warm, and trade as a general thing rules dull, with little prospect of a change until after the close of the "heated term."

Navigation, except on the slackwater, is about over for the present, and without copious rains will remain so for some time to come.

The railroads are just now crowded with business, and all their energies are taxed to move the goods thrown upon them.

The new wool clip is coming in very slowly, and we know of at least one prominent dealer who is scouring the country, determined to purchase or know the reason why. Wool growers are loth to accept the figures offered, and are holding their clips for higher prices. When they get them we shall make a note of the fact.

The grain market continues in a dull and drooping state, with more sellers than buyers, prices being difficult to quote correctly.

Bacon and provisions are reported moderately active, the reduction in prices previously noted still ruling.

Groceries are reported moderately active, particularly in roasted coffees.

Butter is a shade better though not quotably higher. Eggs are firmly held at previous quotations.

The vegetable and fruit market is amply supplied.

Following are the whoesale rates unless otherwise noted:

APPLES—Receipts of 52 bbls. Sales reported at $3 50@4 00 per bbl.

ASHES—Common soda ash 4¼c; refined 6c; pots 9a9½c; pearls 11c; arsenic 3¼a3½c; nitrate soda 4⅛a5c; black lead 6c.

ALES—X $9; XX $10; porter $10; India ale $11 per bbl; Bass English ale, kilderkins, 25 gals, $24; bbls, 45 gals, $44; hhds, 68 gals, $65.

APPLE BUTTER—Sales reported at 45@50c ℔ gallon, as to quality.

BUTTER—Receipts 28 pckgs. Arrivals light and sales of good to prime at 15a18c; common to medium at 8a11c. The weather has had a bad effect upon the condition of butter upon arrival.

BACON AND PROVISIONS—As before noticed there has been a decline in some brands of meats. The trade is reported fair at the following figures: Canvased hams 14½c; canvassed shoulders 9½c; plain do 8½c; rib sides 9½c; short rib do 10c; clear do 10¼c; breakfast bacon 12½c; dried beef 19c; mess pork $17 50; leaf lard in tierce 9¾a10c; refined do 10¼c; half bbls do 10½c; kegs and buckets 11½c.

BEANS—Choic white navy are in demand at $3 00 @3 25 ℔ bushel.

BAGGING—Penn Mill rates: Three bushel, 50c; two and a half bushel, 43c; two bushel, 35c.

BEESWAX—Sales in a small way at 38@40c per ℔.

BANNER BAKING POWDER—Sales as follows: ¼ ℔ cans ℔ doz $1 60; ½ ℔ cans $3; ℔ cans $5 50; 5 ℔ cans $27; 10 and 25 ℔ cans, wood boxes, ℔ ℔ 40c.

BROOM CORN—Market very firm; sales hurl at 8½@9c; green, 4c; red top, 3½c.

CHEESE—Receipts 589 packages. The market rules dull at the following quotations: Prime Ohio Factory, 11½@12c for round lots; small lots 12½a13½c; Dairy 10@11c.

COUNTRY MEATS—Sales reported as follows: Hams 8@9c; sides 7a7½c; shoulders 5@6c; jowls 3c.

COUNTRY LARD—We quote at 7½@8c ℔ ℔.

CRANBERRIES—Sales Sackett's and Carey's at $12 @13 ℔ bbl; lower grades $8@10.

CARBON OIL—Rules very quiet. We quote car lots f. o. b., 16@16½c.

CEMENT—Beeson's hydraulic, $2 00@2 25; Louisville, $2 25@2 50; Rosendale, $4@4 50; white lime, $2 00; calcined plaster, $4 50@5 00; land plaster, $3 00@3 50.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, SATURDAY, June 21, 1873.

REMARKS.—The warm weather seems to affect the oil trade, as it does almost every other branch of business. We are not advised of any particular change since our last report, either at home or abroad.

CRUDE.

The dullness spoken of yesterday still hovers over the market. Dispatches given below will show that sales were made at Parker's at $2 10@2 15, which is a shade better than last quotations. Sales in this market at 5¾c per gallon.

REFINED.

We have only to say that the market is just about in the same condition that it has been for a week or more as regards prices. We did not hear of a single sale. The ruling prices for carbon oil in car lots, at works, is 15½@16c per gallon.

OIL BARRELS.

Prices unchanged; city make, $2 20@2 25; country, $2 10@2 15. Demand active.

[By Western Union Line.]

TITUSVILLE, June 20.—The Courier says: The market is very weak and little doing at any point. On upper road the market opened quiet but grew weaker, with offerings at $2 12½ in the afternoon, but it rallied toward the close to $2 15 bid. At Oil City $2 20 was bid, and $2 25 asked. No report from Parker's. Sales:

500 bbls upper road, spot	$2 22½
500 bbls upper road, spot	2 20

2,400 bbls upper road, spot	2 15
1,000 bbls Oil City, spot	2 25
500 bbls Oil City, spot	2 20

NEW YORK, June 20, closing June 19.—The market continues in a very unsatisfactory condition at inside figures. There is some little inquiry for future contracts and immediate deliveries. Exporters as a rule name lower prices than holders will concede. The greatest drawback to the trade is the unusual limited amount available, with consequent high rates. Crude in bulk, 500 bbls, sold at 8½c; 2,000 do, July, 8¾c. Refined offering at 19c, with sales reported of 2,000 bbls, July, at 19c; 2,500 bbls, July, at 18⅞c; 5,000 bbls, August, at 19c; 10,000 bbls, August and September, at 19½c. Cases offering at 21½c. Philadelphia delivery—Refined, balance month, nominally 19½c; July, 19c; August, 19c. The sales embrace 10,000 bbls, last half August, at 19c.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE PIG IRON AND BLOOM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY COMMERCIAL, SATURDAY, June 21, 1873.

The market for pig iron has assumed a singular condition the past week—for we find cold short anthracite and bituminous coal red short, both quoted at same figures, viz: $35, 6 mos. This figure is very low for red short iron, and most makers of that grade are unwilling to sell at that price, and many of the Western furnace men express a determination to cease making rather than do so.

We are reported the following sales:

IRON MARKETS.

CLEVELAND.

June 18.—Nails have declined to $4 60 rates; bar iron to $3 70; common sheet iron to $6 20 for No. 24; wrought spikes to $5 75.

The past week has experienced a decided activity in charcoal metals, and car wheel and malleable brands sells readily at full prices. There is little charcoal pig in the market for immediate delivery, and most of the Lake Superior furnaces are running under contract or upon large orders. A portion of the Lake Superior foundry metal is taken up for Bessemer use, so that all grades of the charcoal pig are likely to remain firm, even in the face of a general dull market.

Mill irons are still inactive, with scarcely any moving, even at concessions of holders. Nearly one-third of the furnaces in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys are out, and it is generally believed that others will be compelled to suspend if iron matters do not brighten up within the next fortnight. It is generally held that there will be little trade before August, and then it is by no means certain that prices will advance beyond present quotations. Many consumers who are not buying only for immediate use, incline to the opinion that prices will remain comparatively as they are for some time to come, and merely regard the present dullness as only the inevitable result of the relation between supply and demand. The high prices of iron for the past year have driven it from many uses into which the decline will now admit it. Although furnace masters, paying present prices for ore, cannot afford to manufacture pig iron and place it in the market on a basis of $35a37 for mill iron, yet it is believed that a majority of the producers are willing to run through this year at a considerable sacrifice for the purpose of getting iron matters established on a more healthful basis.

Iron ore is not selling, and most of the mining companies are experiencing difficulty in getting their ore down to fill orders already made.

Quotations are nominally as follows:

PHILADELPHIA.

June 18.—There is a continuation of dullness, but the low prices offered have induced sales to a very considerable extent in a private way. Boiler plate mills are unusually busy, and their entire capacity is employed on sash orders at fair prices. The indications for a heavy and active fall trade are promising. Rail mills refusing to work for bonds of indifferent value have been the cause of considerable dullness in that branch of trade, but cash orders must take their place for fall deliveries.

Cattle.

The receipts of cattle since our last report have been heavy of through stock and light of cattle intended for sale at this point. In quality the cattle are generally fair. The market is about over most of the drovers having purchased all the stock they want this week. Trade toward the close of the market was draggy and slow at about the following rates:

Extra 1,400 to 1,500 ℔, fine and smooth, $6 50; extra 1,300 ℔, fine and smooth, $6 10 to $6 25; extra 1,200 ℔ fine, and smooth, $5 85 to $6 00; prime 1,100 ℔, fine and smooth, $5 50 to $5 75; fair 1,000 ℔, fine and smooth, $5 25 to $5 35; stockers, $3 50 to $4 75.

Hogs.

The run of hogs since our last report has been light. On Thursday afternoon trade ruled slow, with prices a shade off. To-day, however, the feeling is better and trade more active. Sales have been made to-day of most of the receipts at prices as below. The market closes firm.

Extra Philadelphia, $5 40 to $5 50; prime Philadelphia, $5 25 to $5 35; prime Yorkers, $5 00; fair Yorkers, $4 85 to $4 95.

Sheep.

The run of sheep was fair to-day. The market dull and bad. The quality of the stock fair. The market this week has been a very unsatisfactory one for owners of stock, most of whom went home losing money. Many of the dealers say sheep sold lower than for some months. Following are the rates at which the market closed:

Extra, 100 ℔s, $5 25; extra, 95 ℔s, $5 10a5 20; prime, 90 ℔s, $5 00; prime, 85 ℔s, $4 75a4 90.

Two of the largest bear operators have covered their shorts and appear to be trying to advance the price, but there seems to be too much of the old clique gold on the market. Loans 2 to 5 per cent for carrying and flat for borrowing. Clearings $76,000,000. Treasury disbursements $64,000. Customs receipts $317,000.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Stocks opened weak on the announcement of the death of Horace F. Clark. The first sale of Union Pacific was made at 22, a fall of 2 per cent. from yesterday, and of Lake Shore at 91, a decline of ⅞ per cent. After a short time the market became stronger and a steady advance followed until after the second board when prices were ⅛a3⅛ per cent. above the lowest point with the improvement most marked in Union Pacific, Pacific Mail, Western Union, Lake Shore and Atlantic and Pacific. Thereafter a weak feeling set in and a general reaction ensued and the market closing weak with little demand outside of the pools, who had been compelled to buy considerable amounts of stock to-day to sustain prices. The Pacific Mail Directors took no action to-day on the question of issuing bonds. It is reported that M. Clark held very few shares in Union Pacific. Income bonds of that road sold off to 56, with but 55 bid at the close.

MONONGAHELA—Three feet and falling.

Boats Departing this Day.

Brownsville and Geneva U. S. Mail packets, 8 A. M. and 5 P. M.

Brownsville and Geneva, West Virginia, Donaldson, 7 A. M.

THE marks last evening indicated three feet and falling slowly. The weather during the day was excessively warm. The low water season has been fairly inaugurated.

THE Rover, with three barges of iron ore, has laid up at Cincinnati.

WE ARE indebted to the officers of the steamer Juniata for favors. Thanks.

THE Rapidan enters the Evansville and Tennessee river trade, in connection with the Florence Lee.

THE steamers Juniata and Mallie Ragon arrived since our last. The former laid up, the latter left for Wheeling.

THE fine steamer West Virginia, Captain Donaldson, takes her departure this day at 7 A. M. for Brownsville and Geneva.

THE little steamer L. C. McCormick was engaged yesterday in conveying the sporting fraternity to the races at McKee's Rocks.

THE Thomas W. Means sunk a barge of coal belonging to the Coal Valley Coal Company, at Riverton, on her last trip down.

THE steamer Bart Able, 200 feet long, 40 beam and with four 26-foot boilers, is for sale at New Orleans. Her cylinders are 22 inches 8 feet.

THE Pilots' Association of Louisville have sold their property, two houses and lots on Third street, near the river, for $12,000, less than half cost.

THE Mary Davage left the ore pile Wednesday evening for this city with three barges, containing 800 tons of ore and 300 tons of pig iron.

THE tug Protection, bound from New Orleans to White river, smashed her cylinders 12 miles below Vicksburg last Monday. She repaired and went on after 48 hours.

HENRY MACE, a bar tender on the St. James, died from a hemorrhage Tuesday, at his home in Maysville. He was quite a young man, and had only been confined to his home a short time.

FREIGHTS in the Missouri river are now carried at 10 cents per cwt; a good thing for merchants and planters, and bad for boatmen, but it results from an active and determined opposition of competing lines.

CAPTAIN JOHN WOODBURN purchased at Memphis, last Monday, the steamer Belle of Texas from Captain James Rees. He will bring her up the Ohio in a day or two to have a new stern put on and lengthened fifteen feet.

THE fine passenger steamer R. R. Hudson, Captain Wm. M. List, takes her departure this day from Bellair for Cincinnati and way points, on the arrival of the 1:28 P. M. train from Pittsburgh. Passengers will bear this in mind.

THE early appearance of the yellow fever in Havana and the ports in the Gulf of Mexico has induced the Board of Health of New Orleans to recommend, and the Governor to order, a quarantine upon vessels arriving from certain infected ports.

THE heaviest rain that is remembered to have fallen in Kentucky passed through that portion of the State on the line of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, between Bowling Green and Lebanon Junction, on Friday night and Saturday morning, causing a flood in all the streams that is said to have done great damage to property.

THE Cincinnati Gazette says: Capt. Sam. Bryant and J. A. Stonebraker have concluded satisfactory arrangements to place a steamer in the trade hence to Vanceburg, to leave every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, in command of the former, with the latter in the office. The boat will probably commence business Saturday.

IN OUR river column will be found the advertisement of the Marine and Dry Dock Company of Cincinnati, who are prepared to take out the largest class of steamers. Their facilities are said to be of the best description. They have excellent material and good workmen. They promise to charge reasonable prices and guarantee satisfaction. What more can be asked?

BAILEY, of the Danbury News, says that Mississippi river "steamboats are flat-bottomed, and many of them carry the wheel at the stern. It is that part of the boat where, if it were a house, the slops would be thrown out. The wheel is a cumbersome looking article, and to the casual observer the boat appears to have just climbed over it. I would give you a picture of the two were I not engaged in painting a view of the Rocky mountains at sunrise."

THE United States Mail Packets on the slackwater arrive and depart on time. The low water has so far had no effect on them. These boats are sidewheelers, were built expressly for the trade and are A No. 1 in every respect. They depart strictly on time, 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. If you want any further information just call on Captain A. S. Carlile, on the wharfboat. What he don't know about the Brownsville trade is not worth inquiring about.

THE Little Rock Gazette says: "The Howard came down yesterday and went on to Memphis, where she intends laying up for the present. It was the intention of her owners to keep the boat here for the summer, but the Wharfmaster, as we are informed, told Captain Perry he would be charged two dollars per day wharfage at any place inside the corporation. If such is the law, it is a very unjust and foolish one, and the sooner our city authorities repeal it the better for the city. The crew of the Howard, had she been permitted to remain moored at our shore, would have spent many a dollar in Little Rock."

THE wreck of the old Belle of Pike, sunk at Memphis by the ice last winter, now lies directly across the channel of President's Island chute within fifty yards of the Tennessee shore and directly opposite the first towhead that makes out from President's Island a mile and a half below the "rocks" at the saw-mill below the gasworks. The "break" of the wreck is just visible in daylight, but can not be seen at night. Pilots of boats will by taking the middle of the chute avoid it, but it would be better to run a little nearer to the towhead. The old wreck is a dangerous obstruction, and up to this time boats of all sizes have been passing directly over it.

A NEW ORLEANS paper says: "The Era No. 10 was sold by the United States Marshal to Captain T. L. Taylor for $3,200. In connection with the above sale we were much surprised to see that the Marshal demanded immediate payment right on the spot, when it has been customary for a bill of sale to be made out and the purchaser to go to the office of the Marshal and settle. We cannot see that a purchaser has any right to let the Marshal have money until the bill of sale is made out and delivered. We suppose, however, that he thought the Kellogg government was in the market yet, and would like to see the greenbacks instead of State warrants. The H. C. Yeager, on her down trip, collided with a flatboat containing six hundred barrels of lime, which caused the total destruction of the boat and her cargo. It occurred near St. James parish."

MAGGIE SMITH is the name of a new and handsome towboat building under the superintendance of Captain J. P. Smith. The following particulars may be of interest to the general reader: The hull was built by Messrs. L. M. & W. F. Speer, Belle Vernon, length 135 feet, beam 24 feet, hold 4½ feet. The hull was built of selected timber, and is extra fastened, plank in the bottom 3½ inches, in sides 3½a3 inches. Engines by Messrs. Robinson, Rea & Co., cylinders 17 inches in diameter with 6 feet stroke, boilers 3 in number, 36 inches in diameter, 26 feet long, wheel 21 feet in diameter with 18½ feet buckets. The cabin will be neat and convenient, built by W. F. Richardson, painted by Wm. Lees, blacksmith work by Patterson & Bishop.

The Maggie Smith is named after the accomplished daughter of Captain J. P. Smith. No expense will be spared in her construction. She will be an A No. 1 boat in all respects. Her draught of water will be 28 inches. She is intended to operate in the pools, and will make occasional trips to Cincinnati and Louisville.

Slight Fires Yesterday.

About three o'clock yesterday afternoon an alarm of fire was signalled from Box 56. The roof of a building on Bedford avenue had caught fire from a defective flue. The fire was put out by the Phillips Engine Company, with but slight loss.

Shortly after seven o'clock last evening fire was discovered in the shed covering the engine of A. A. Anderson & Son, job printers, in the rear of the Dispatch building. An alarm was given and the firemen soon extinguished the flames.

Woman's Suffrage Association.

At a meeting of the Woman Suffrage Association, held yesterday, the following persons were elected officers for the coming year: President, Miss Matilda Hindman; Vice Presidents, Mrs. J. Heron Foster and Dr. W. H. Davidson; Treasurer, Mr. Wm. A. Proudfoot; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Mary McQuigg; Recording Secretary, Miss Melissa Kelly; Executive Committee, Mr. Cyrus Howard; Mrs. S. H. McKelvy, Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Mrs. Helen P. Jenkins, Miss Jennie Hindman.

A Successful Lot Sale.

The sale of lots by James W. Drape & Co., on Thursday last, at the House of Refuge, below Allegheny, was one of the most successful of any of the public sales we have had hereabouts. The total amount realized was $37,950, which shows that the demand was very great. These lots are among the most eligible for many of the working classes and others that are now upon the market. Much of the success of the sale, however, is attributable to Messrs. Drape & Co. for their judicious management of the business arrangements.

Railway Accident.

Yesterday morning, about eleven o'clock, as a freight train on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, composed of cars loaded with oil and iron ore, was leaving the track on Pike street to round a curve at the lower end of Hussey, Wells & Co.'s steel works, the engine jumped the track and was precipitated down a bank into the yard of the steel works. The tender, locomotive and two cars loaded with ore for the Lucy Furnace were considerably damaged. The engineer and fireman narrowly escaped being buried beneath the engine. The accident was caused by the switchman not throwing the switch to its proper position.

High School Alumni.

The Thirteenth annual reunion of the Alumni of the Pittsburgh Central High School was held last evening at the Hall of the Institution, and was a very enjoyable affair. The meeting was called to order by Dr. Alex. McCandless, who announced the unavoidable absence of the retiring President, Mr. Clark H. Johnson, and also of the President elect, Mr. T. P. Henderson.

On motion, John G. Bryant, Esq., was called upon to preside. Miss Jennie Cooper, of the class of 1873 read a very clever essay and, following, John S. Lambie, Esq., delivered an able oration. The exercises were interspersed with music from the Quintette Club and several of the lady members.

After the business meeting a sociable was held, and all enjoyed themselves hugely.

Decree Modified.

On Saturday, June 14th, in the case of Dr. D. Hostetter vs. Warden, Frew & Co., a decree was made by the Court of Common Pleas, (already published,) as follows: "That the plea of defendants be overruled, and that said defendants be ordered to account to plaintiff, that the cause be referred to F. M. Magee as master and examiner to take an account between plaintiff and defendant, and report said account to this Court, together with the evidence taken by him, with the form of such decree as he considers should be made in the premises."

June 19th, the above decree was modified as follows: "It appearing to the Court that the decree for an account, and the reference to master to state an account, was premature, that part of the foregoing order is vacated, and it is ordered that defendants answer within thirty days."

Ayers' Latin School.

The closing exercises of Ayers' Latin School took place yesterday. Prof. Ayers was presented by his pupils with a beautiful silver set, consisting of pitcher, goblets, bowl and stand, bearing this inscription: "To Prof. J. E. Ayres, from his pupils. Pittsburgh, June 20, 1873."

Prof. E. D. Mason was presented with a beautiful bound copy of Shakespeare, also a copy of Milton. The presentation speeches were made by Mr. R. D. Swoope and R. V. Museler, on behalf of the pupils, and replied to by Messrs. Ayres and Mason.

Rev. Scovel made some very interesting remarks, instructive to both teacher and pupil.

Mr. Ayers leaves Pittsburgh for a new field of labor in Colorado, and he will be succeeded here by Prof. Holman, who is highly recommended as a gentleman of excellent scholarship and Christian character. He is a graduate of Dartmouth College, and an experienced teacher. Mr. Ayres has done a good work here, and his many friends will part with him regretfully.

THE CASE OF S. R. McCLEAN.

More Information Made—Charges of Forgery and Embezzlement—The Accused Cannot be Found.

Further rumors regarding the closing of the banking house of S. McClean & Co. have continued the past two days, and all sorts of charges have been made against S. R. McClean. Three more informations were made yesterday against him, one by Howard Morton, before Alderman Anderson, and two by John H. Garrard, before Mayor Blackmore. Mr. Morton, who is of the firm of Wilson, Leggate & Co., charges McClean with forgery, and in his information sets forth "that the defendant, S. R. McClean, did unlawfully and feloniously forge the name of Howard Morton to a certain check dated June 4th, 1873, and drawn on McClean & Co., for $28 32." Attached to the information is a copy of the alleged forged check, which is made out on one of McClean's bank checks, and reads: "Pay to the order of services, interest and drafts, and expenses on partial collections, $28 32, and charge H. Morton."

On this information a warrant was issued, but up to the latest account the accused could not be found.

The two informations before the Mayor, by John H. Garrard charge McClean with fraudulently embezzling $11,303 and a bond of Allegheny county of the value of $1,500, which were placed in his hands as a banker and broker. The cash and the proceeds of the bond, it is alleged, the defendant appropriated to his own use and benefit. It is stated further that McClean collected the interest on the bond and had the bond itself transferred to another party. Warrants were issued on these informations, but it would seem that the defendant has left the city. It is likely that he will be followed and no doubt apprehended.

EQUALIZATION ORDINANCE.

Argument of Mr. Shiras Against the Motion for a Preliminary Injunction.

We are under obligations to Mr. E. Y. Breck, Official Court Reporter, for the following report of the argument of Mr. George Shiras, Jr., one of the counsel for the defendants in the case of Samuel Chadwick vs. The City of Pittsburgh, on the motion for a preliminary injunction to restrain the officers of the city from the collection of taxes assessed under the equalization ordinance:

ARGUMENT OF GEORGE SHIRAS, JR.

If your Honors please: My proposition is that your Honors, sitting as a Court of Equity, cannot interfere in this case upon the bill and the allegations of the bill, because it does not disclose that kind of a case in which a Court of Equity will interfere with the city of Pittsburgh and its functionaries, and why? Because I understand it to be the law that if the defendants are proceeding under and by virtue of an authority properly bestowed upon them, and the complaint is merely of some irregularity of action under an admitted or conferred authority, then a Court of Equity cannot and does not interfere. That if, on the other hand, the defendants are acting without color of law, not by virtue or in pursuance of an admitted or conferred authority, then a Court of Equity can interfere.

If this Board of Revision, or if the city of Pittsburgh, without any proper authority from the State, were proceeding to impose a tax upon this complainant, he would have a right to get an injunction from your Honors, restraining them, as I suppose the law is in Pennsylvania, for the reason that a great many persons would be interested in having such an act restrained, and for the purpose of preventing a number of actions, your Honors might interfere by injunction, and hence I say, if these defendants were in the attitude of attempting to propose and carry out a power never conferred upon them by some proper authority, I suppose your Honors would have jurisdiction, but as that is not claimed to be the case here we may dismiss it.

I think the voice, the united voice of the Pennsylvania authorities is that if the defendant persons are proceeding under color of law, and by virtue of an admitted bestowal of authority from the State, then a Court of Equity has no right to interfere.

Mr. Shiras then cited a number of cases to show that a person taxed must proceed in the manner provided by act of Assembly, and cannot maintain an appeal for the restraining of the collection of taxes illegally assessed. The function of a Court of Equity, as the authorities lay it down, continued Mr. Shiras, in respect to irregularities on the part of functionaries is this. If there appears to be a pretense of legal authority on the face of the proceedings—if the man who is committing the act complained of has some form of legal authority, without any in fact, however, although it might appear to be legal, then a Court of Equity will inquire into the reality of his authority, and if satisfied that the authority does not exist, then they will interfere; but if they are satisfied of the actual existence of his authority under which the defendant purports to act, that if his acts are merely complained of as irregular they will refuse to interfere. If the charges are such as to amount to an intentional perversion of power the Courts say that that is a matter of personal rectification, that is to say: a suit at law for an illegal and unwarranted assumption of power that they did not possess. Mr. Shiras then read a number of cases decided in Massachusetts, New York and Supreme Court of the United States, in support of this last proposition and tending to sustain the opinion of the Supreme Court in this State, in which Judge Thompson in Hughes vs. Kline, 6th Casey, a proceeding to restrain the collection of taxes by a bill in equity says, that it will not do to permit the collection of taxes to be interfered with by such process, except in cases of a want of jurisdiction in the assessing and collecting officers.

Mr. Shiras said: Now the learned gentleman who will follow me suggested a distinction of which we shall probably hear more and which I will reply to here. He suggested that the cases cited from the New York and Massachusetts reports might be disposed of by a consideration that they had a remedy by writ of certiorari, and there was no such remedy here. But observe the reasoning. If the law has provided a remedy they must follow it. It does not follow that if the law has not provided a remedy equity will give it, because the Commonwealth has not given or thought fit to give a remedy. The doctrine of Pennsylvania is, if there be an appeal by statute that appeal must be followed. If it be the case of the city of Pittsburgh they must follow it, but if there be no appeal there must be no redress, no mode of reviewing it. Whatever the law provides must be followed.

Now, if the complaint here was that these defendants, without the warrant of any act of Assembly, were under guise and pretense of being clothed with public powers in these respects, proceeding to assess a tax without any authority, and that by reason of their being public functionaries they seem to have some sort of prima facie authority in the premises, which would subject the title of the complainant to doubt—throw a cloud on his title—or if there were so many interested in the restraining of the act complained of, and they would proceed to show that there was no such authority, and if the defendants failed to show that they were acting under and by virtue of some authority conferred on them from a proper quarter, then your Honors could interfere. But the gist of the authorities I have cited, except the Pennsylvania cases, is that if it be a mere complaint of the manner in which a conferred authority is exercised with respect to the taxing power, and all public questions of that kind, a Court of Equity will not interfere.

Now how are we met in respect to this? for I take it your Honors will find that the law I have stated is sustained by the authorities, and is the law of the case. We are met by two suggestions. We are met by the suggestion that this is irregular and contrary to law because the Board of Revision was elected by the people in pursuance of an ordinance of Councils instead of their being elected by the Councils themselves.

Now as the point has been made as to the question of the legality of the act of Assembly, I will briefly refer to it.

And it may be well here to recur to the language of the statute at any rate, when an able argument has been made in support of the view held by the other side thereon. Now I must say that it strikes my mind, I won't say too clearly for argument, but very clearly indeed, that the legislative intent was to direct an election by the people of this Board of Revision through an ordinance which was to be passed for that purpose, fixing time and place and circumstance. And now the first argument I want to make in pursuance of that construction is this: That your Honors will, I will not say are bound, but your first inclination will be to adopt that construction which has been put upon it by the Executive Council whose duty it is to enforce or carry out the act of Assembly. It has always been held as legitimate argument when the question of the construction of an act of Assembly is brought up, that if the Department that is called upon to act has given a certain practical construction to it, that the courts will not lightly nor for any reason short of an imperative reason differ from them on the construction. Your Honors are well aware that these acts of Assembly drawn up by business men are so framed that it would not do to adopt too refined or too critical a standard of criticism; and the courts take notice of this fact, and if it be a reasonably fair construction, either by the Governor, by the County Commissioners, or by municipal authorities in cities, they will not for light reasons disturb it. Now we have a construction put upon this act of Assembly by the city of Pittsburgh. They evidently read and understood that they should provide by an ordinance for an election of the Board of Revision by the people. Now that is my first suggestion. It is a reasonable construction; it is the more likely construction than the other. I think the other construction is the forced one, because I see no reason why, in the second place, the Legislature would have provided that the Councils should go on by ordinance to provide for an election of the Board of Revision. If they were to be mere creatures of the Councils, to be appointed by them for a special and designated purpose, they would naturally leave it to Councils to elect them as they ought to have; but when they go on to say in terms and in a very short act "that a board of revision shall be formed by the selection of one person from each ward at an election to be provided for by ordinance of the City Council, the said board shall alter, revise, &c." Vide act of March 28, 1872. I think the natural meaning of the language of this act is the one that the City Councils attached to it. Now, in the third place, if that be not the natural construction, or if your Honors are not disposed to adopt the construction put upon it by the City Councils, then I say, as has already been argued by my colleague, Mr. Watson, that the fact that they submitted to the people of the wards the designation of the persons who should be the members of the Board of Revision from the several wards, is not an illegitimate method of exercising the discretion in this case. I think this case is distinguishable on true and good common-sense grounds, from the cases we are all familiar with, in which it has been held that a body designated by the Legislature as the functionaries to perform a certain duty, cannot delegate it.

We are all familiar with that principle that where there is a certain authority it cannot be delegated, but your Honors will observe that this act of Assembly seems to have provided, or had in view, that it was the Councils of Pittsburgh by themselves, or by their proper officers or agents; and it seems by these terms to have implied that the Councils might, in their discretion, appoint such agents as they thought fit; and if Councils, in their discretion, chose to have the proper person who should be a member of this Board of Revision from each ward designated to it by an election of the people, it differs from the case of referring to a subordinate a question of power to be designated by themselves, for the idea of the act is that getting at the facts, coming at an examination of the particular properties is to be done through agencies, and I therefore think that in that point of view it would not be illegal, even if we were to understand that Councils were to elect the Board of Revision, that they might not take that mode of electing them, direct the people of each ward to select a member of the Board to represent them. And there is a suggestion in that connection, and that is, that the act of 1873 recognizes this Board of Revision, and that I take to be a ratification; it is a ratification by the Legislature of the practical construction put upon the act by the City Councils in their ordinance. Now, the only answer I have heard to that is by Mr. Marshall in respect to the constitutionality of this act of 1873, in which he says that the title of the act does not give sufficient notice of the purport and substantial meaning of the act. I think I may say justly that the constitutional amendment and the construction given to it by the Supreme Court go about this far, that the title to the statute must not or need not consist of a summary of the contents of a statute. It is merely a key to the nature and subject matter of the legislation that is to follow. The case that has gone farther is the case of the Market Street Passenger Railway Company in Philadelphia, in which under a title of this kind and in "an act supplemental to the act incorporating the company," power was given them to extend their road beyond the termini fixed in the original act. It was a bestowal of additional power, and it was held by the Supreme Court that that part of the act did not make the entire act void; but they held that that part of the act that bestowed new powers on this Railroad Company in respect to its extent would be void, because the title gave no intimation of the nature of the legislation.

Now that is not true of this act of 1873. This is an act that gives notice that its subject is in respect to the taxes, the safe and speedy collection of taxes in the city of Pittsburgh. It therefore seems to me that this title gives substantial notice that legislation is here proposed on matters that are germain to the taxing powers, the collection of taxes in the city of Pittsburgh. It says the safe and speedy collection of taxes in Pittsburgh. Now I say the natural meaning of that is, and I submit this to your Honors, that the subject of the matter of the taxes of Pittsburgh are to be legislated upon, and that whether it be the assessment, whether it be the appointment of officers for the purpose of assessment, whether it be for the purpose of appointing collectors or providing that the taxes shall be paid directly to the City Treasurer without the intervention of other city officers, that it has reference to the more speedy and safe collection of taxes in the city of Pittsburgh, includes all that goes in to make up a tax, includes all necessary steps to the final receipt. Whatever pertains to the collection of taxes in the city of Pittsburgh is covered by it, just as fully, just as satisfactorily, giving just as much notice of the nature of the legislation as if the title itself had recited and said for the more speedy and safe assessment and collection of taxes. And now let me make another remark upon this, and I think your Honors will see some propriety in the suggestion, that even if your Honors would hold that this act of 1873 was void by reason of a defective title, it could not confer any new power, and that therefore that provision of the act which directs the City Assessor to proceed in cases where the Board of Revision have not acted would be void in respect to that, and confer no additional power to the City Assessor. The Legislature, while they may have disregarded a constitutional provision in not having the title speak to the subject of the act, and therefore rendering it not enforceable in the way of conferring new powers upon anybody, nevertheless, as your Honors can see, gave legislative recognition to the construction of the act of 1872, that was put on it by the City Councils in their ordinance, to wit: That it was to be an election by the people; but they may have thought, not having a proper title to the act, failed to confer on the City Assessor these additional powers that that section four seeks to confer upon him. Now this brings me to another argument, if the Court please. They say that there is irregular or illegal conduct here on the part of these defendants, because the City Assessor has in some instances, of which they aver in their affidavits, changed the assessments put upon different properties by the Board of Revision. Now, then, as to the facts, and that brings me, perhaps, to the second general division of the subject, for thus far I have been contending that on the face of the bill, upon the law as claimed, that the complainants are not entitled to this remedy. And I have been hastily discussing their only proposition of law that the Board of Revision ought to have been elected by the people. Now, that is the only argument of law. All the other considerations in the case proceed upon the second branch, that the law would warrant your Honors to inquire into it, and that the act had provided, (in order to test the question we will suppose that the act provided) for an appeal to your Honors, for, as I said, the law seems to be laid down that unless there is an appeal provided by the statute itself or by some general statute which applies to the subject, or unless there be some act without authority of law your Honors cannot interfere. Suppose there is a right of appeal, and we come in before your Honors, and the only matters suggested for your Honors to consider are the acts they now complain of. They say the City Assessor himself, without authority of law, as they contend, changed the values put upon the properties by the Board of Revision. Now, first, what are the facts? We have, if the Court pleases, in the affidavit of the City Assessor, and of certain members of the Board of Revision, a complete traverse of that allegation in respect to any undue act by the City Assessor. What he did apparently as an agent of the City Councils, and before it became a matter for the judgment of the Board of Revision. Whenever the Board of Revision closed and pronounced judgment, they adopted and passed upon the thing as a whole, and that is the answer, I think, to the suggestion that they used particular committees in respect to particular parts of the property. Now it strikes me, if the Court please, that that is the very idea that is suggested by the ordinance and act of Assembly—that there should be a member of the Board of Revision from each ward. I do not think that the contemplation was that all the members of the Board should go and sit upon each and every piece of property in every other part of the city, but the idea was that by taking a member of the Board from each ward, and by the subsequent appointment of special committees, the facts, the means of judgment, would be brought before the Board as a whole, and when they adopt them as a whole they act within the meaning of the law, just as your Honors would act. It would not do in attacking a judgment of your Honors in the Supreme Court, to say by affidavit that in a particular equity case Judge Stowe only read one of the affidavits, and Judge Sterrett read another, and when it was proposed to read additional affidavits died in the case your Honors said: Oh, no, you need not read them. That is often done. What does it mean? It means that in the judgment of your Honors you have heard read all that may be necessary; and so in the judgment of this Board they did not consider it necessary, in the exercise of their discretion in the performing of their duties, to sit and hear the reports of the separate committees read at the time that they were dispensed with. It don't mean that your Honors have not acquainted yourselves with the facts, and so when your judgment is assailed it could not be contended that it is a void judgment because your Honors did not direct that each of the affidavits be read before you at one time and in one place. It is sufficient that the Board acted on them as a whole. And it is a matter of detail which the law does not contemplate, in what way the Committee shall proceed in respect to any ward or any portion of a ward.

Now in respect, however, to the City Assessor, I wish to call your Honors' attention to a condition of the law already mentioned in your hearing by my colleague, Mr. Magee, but which did not seem at the time to attract that degree of attention which I think the merit of it warrants. Now then it is evident that if you look upon this ordinance of the 8th of April, 1869, that the power to the City Assessor is full and peremptory as to his being the person that is directed or provided by this ordinance to assess the city property, and he may adopt or he may not adopt as he has heretofore thought fit to do, and as before this year has been the custom to do, but he has not been bound by it to take the county valuation; and I ask my able friends on the other side to point out any positive provision of law, except the act of 1872, which they are attacking, which requires the City Assessor to take the county valuation in making his assessments for city purposes. The suggestion I make in respect to the City Assessor in this matter which has been made the basis of the charge upon him here is a three-fold one. First, that our affidavits denied that he did change those assessments—I mean our affidavits aver that whatever he did, he did acting as an agent of the city and subject to the approval of the Board of Revision, and the Board of Revision have confirmed his act whatever it is. Another answer is, that the City Assessor is the party, that by the ordinance of '69 and the act of '69 confirming it, is authorized to make such valuations; and another answer is, that the act of '73 directs in terms that the City Assessor is to be the party who is to act and put these valuations in case of omissions to act by the Board of Revision. Of course, with respect to that matter, it may depend on the views of your Honor, in respect to the constitutionality of that act; but I really think in that connection that it is refining and carrying a doctrine far, that an act that does in terms refer to the safe and speedy collection of taxes in a certain city that the City Assessor, who, by his name, has to set the city taxes, that it is beyond, outside of the title, and whatever pertains to the tax as such, whatever is necessary in order to bring the tax into the Treasury of the city has to do with its collection, especially when that act provides that the duplicate shall be returned to the City Treasurer before a certain time, and only gives him power after the Board of Revision shall, from any cause, have failed to perform its duties within the time. I don't suppose, I think it would be a very narrow construction that would say, with respect to the collection of the taxes of the city of Pittsburgh, that it had only to do with the appointment of a Collector, or something of that kind. I think necessarily that whatever steps and all steps necessary to bring the tax into the Treasury of the city pertain to the safe and proper collection of taxes.

Now, if your Honors please, I have taken up more time than I designed in the outset. I think I am warranted in claiming as I did in starting out, that your Honors cannot grant this preliminary injunction because on the face of the bill, because on the case as here, it is the case of the exercise of a discretion that has been formally vested in the defendants, and that your Honors cannot consider or rather suppose irregularity of action; and in respect to that I might venture the observation that there is no system for the collection of taxes in a city of such diverse properties as go to make up the city of Pittsburgh, that would not be more or less onerous on the part of individuals. And I say further that all this talk about cash values and assessed valuations should not be considered here; in law they are the same, and a Court of Equity cannot consider the practical difference which certainly does exist, because such difference is founded on palpable misconception of the law, it would be too harsh to say perjury. We all know the trite saying that men's judgments are like their watches; that seems to be particularly true in respect to the value of real estate matters subject to taxation. And if a system like this, the spirit of which is equitable, the object of which is to subject the citizens of the entire community to an equitable tax, if particular errors of judgment or differences in judgment on the part of individuals are to be made the foundation for a Court of Equity interfering, it seems to me that we never could have any system; and I think in a public sense that the proper answer to all these special affidavits—and they are not very numerous; there don't appear to be many dissatisfied people—is that while the men who have been living on these properties brought within the limits of our city are willing to accept the advantages that accrue therefrom and to accept the valuation put upon their property, when they come to sell they are naturally reluctant to see taxes go up on a corresponding scale. I don't charge on these gentlemen anything personally offensive to them, but we all know that while they are willing to admit the advance in value when they come to sell or mortgage, that they are very unwilling to perceive that the tax collector takes cognizance of the increasing values in their properties.

It would be impossible to get up a system that on its first going off there would not be particular instances of error; the thing would not be human if it was not so; and it is just the case every such city will have in point of fact—some irregularity or particular injustice. The Courts have been obliged, in order to protect themselves and protect the working of government from being impeded by every man getting in with a bill in equity, just because of these irregularities, to lay down the law as I have endeavored to maintain it.

THE McKEE PRIZE.

Music Contest Last Night—The Gold Medal Awarded to a Wisconsin Girl.

The music contest for the McKee Prize, by the pupils of the Pittsburgh Female College, came off last evening, in the College Chapel, in the presence of a very large and highly fashionable audience. The hall was densely crowded—full to jamming—as is always the case on occasions of this character. The McKee prize is a beautiful and costly gold medal, suitably inscribed, and annually awarded to the most meritorious performer in instrumental music. The judges selected were Profs. Carl Ritter, V. De Ham and H. Nicholl.

Promptly at the hour designated, the fair contestants took their seats upon the platform, and before them, on the President's stand, lay the elegant medal, the object of their ambition.

Dr. Pershing announced that the performance would open with the "Grand Contest March," composed by Professor G. Blessner, and performed on the organ and piano by Professor and Mrs. Blessner. This was a very pleasant piece of music, and its performance was well received and warmly applauded. Rev. W. B. Watkins, D. D., then led in prayer.

Before the regular contest began, Miss Mary Cannon favored the audience with Gottschalk's "Slumber Song," which was rendered in a very pleasing and creditable manner, as shown by the hearty demonstrations of applause.

The contest then commenced, the competitors being announced by number, and not by name, so that the judges might be relieved from any suspicion of favoritism. The performances followed in the order given below:

No. 1—"Hexameron," Lizst, Thalbert, Herz, Pixish. Miss Mary Finley, East Liberty.

No. 2—Grand Polonaise in E Major Weber. Miss Sallie Woodworth, Chicago.

No. 3—"La Cracovienne," Wallace. Miss Emma Robinson, Allegheny.

No. 4—"March des Amozones," Wehll. Miss Mary Howard, Birmingham.

No. 5—"Caprice de Concert," Wallace. Miss Henrietta K. Brown, Green Bay, Wis.

No. 6—"Il Trovatore," Ketterer. Miss Mattie Curtis, Baldwinsville, W. Va.

We shall not attempt to criticise these performances in detail. Each was excellent, and each exhibited peculiar points of superiority. The performances of numbers two, three and five were most sprightly and brilliant, and elicited rapturous and continuous applause. While the judges were out making up their verdict, the audience was favored with a song, "Beautiful Lena," by Miss Annie Heiner.

Dr. Pershing, observing the Rev. Dr. Douglas in the audience, requested him to come forward and award the prize, as the judges were ready to report. The Doctor responded in a very felicitous speech, and complimented in elegant terms, the fair contestants, and the excellent institution in which they being were educated. He then announced that the Committee had awarded the prize to No. 5 (Miss Brown, of Wisconsin), and handed over the medal to the lady in words exceedingly well chosen. The judges made honorable mention of the performances of numbers two and three, which met the decided approbation of the audience. Miss Robison's execution struck us as remarkably good.

The entertainment closed with a song, "The Nightingale's Trill," by Miss Campbell.

Dr. Pershing announced that the annual sermon would be delivered by Bishop Haven, in Christ church, Sabbath morning next, and in the evening the same gentleman will deliver the annual address at the same place.

The reading contest for the Davidson prize will take place on Monday evening.

The attendance at the College this year numbered three hundred, of which one hundred and eighty-nine entered the Musical Department.

The piano used last evening was from the celebrated manufactory of Knabe & Co.

Young men and boys who desire a sound business education should avail themselves of the advantages offered in the Commercial Department of the High School. It is now in a very prosperous condition, and is as thorough in all its appointments as the best business colleges in the country. The Practical Department represents a business community en miniature, having its bank, business offices, &c., &c., in complete working order. The course embraces book-keeping, by single and double entry, in all its various applications to trade, commercial arithmetic, laws of business, penmanship, phonography, business correspondence and business customs. The Western University.

The intelligent public must not forget the claims of the old University upon their attention. Next week winds up another year with her. The examinations, held every day until Friday, are open to all comers, the more the better. They embrace such a range of studies that almost every one will find among them something that he feels interested in and about which he can ask a question or two. On Monday Dr. Woods delivers his Baccalaureate address to the freshly gowned men of 1873 in University Hall, at 11 A. M. Class-day exercises at the same place on Thursday at 2½ P. M. will rally the lovers of fun, and on Friday night the intelligence, wit and beauty of Pittsburgh and suburbs will throng, with fans, to the Third Presbyterian church, to see the class of '73 duly "commence." May they all end well.

The Music in the Parks.

The Allegheny Park Commission held a meeting last evening to consider the subject of music. The Commission having become convinced that there is a popular demand for music in the park, have set to work to make it as attractive as possible. The fact that some arrangement must be made by which a better sound may be had was admitted, and it was resolved to put a temporary covering over the stand already erected for an experiment. This work will be done to-day, and this evening when the band plays it will be ascertained how effective it may be. If successful the Commission will erect a handsome covered stand.

A Chance for Mechanics.

The most desirable opportunity for mechanics to invest in real estate, is that offered by the sale of lots on the Brereton grounds, Lawrenceville, on Monday morning next, at nine o'clock. There is no clap trap about this property, and those who purchase will reap substantial advantages.

Buy a Home.

But in doing so do not make the fatal mistake of getting away from every convenience—gas, water, streets, and above all easy access to your place of business. Lawrenceville is one of the most desirable places to locate, and the sale of lots on the Brereton ground, on Monday morning next, will furnish a splendid opportunity.

Are You Insured?

The question of the insurance of property has become a matter of great importance in these days of destructive fires. It has been customary heretofore for our citizens to insure their property in foreign companies; happily that is not now necessary. In the city of Allegheny, at No. 206 Ohio street is located the Teutonia Insurance Company. This company is prepared to assume risks and to transact a regular insurance business. The Board of Directors are also well known residents of this vicinity, which is a sufficient guarantee of the responsibility of the institution. All useful information will be furnished on application to the office of the company.

Dress Fashionably.

It is a very easy matter to give the advice to dress fashionably, but that advice is not so easily followed, unless you have the acquaintance of a fashionable tailor. The establishment of Mr. B. Tiegel is just such a place. He keeps constantly on hand the most superior quality of goods, and employing none but first class cutters and workmen, is thereby enabled to furnish what every gentleman desires, a fashionably cut and made suit. He is in the habit of carrying a large stock and is therefore prepared to offer his goods at a much lower rate than can be procured elsewhere. Give him a call and he will give you satisfaction.

The Wylie Avenue Savings Bank.

Among the saving institutions of our city there are none that bear a better reputation than the Smithfield (late Wylie Avenue) Savings Bank, located at 73 Smithfield street. The Board of Directors are well known as good financiers, consequently the bank has been a success since its inception. In addition to being a savings institution it also transacts all business usually connected with a first-class banking institution. All matters entrusted to them will receive careful and prompt attention.

Use the Anderson Sash Balance.

It is the most simple in construction, and is not liable to get out of repair. It is warranted for fifteen years, and never fails to give satisfaction. All who have already used it are loud in its praise, and house builders who once hear of it are always anxious to use it. It has become so popular in Chicago that most of the new buildings going up there are having this sash balance adjusted. Call at the office, No. 70 Smithfield street, and see it manipulated.

New Jubilee Organ.

It may be pleasure to many who have already bought the New Jubilee Organ to know that the Committee on Music selected a New Jubilee to be used at the cemetery on Decoration Day.

Many who heard it have already came to the Music Store of J. M. Lieghner & Co., and selected one of the same kind for their own use, expressing their surprise at the beautiful tones.

To all who yet desire the purchase of an organ, we would say they have yet many in their store and many more on the way, and will be glad to have you call and see them, and accommodate you with their best terms, which is the best offered by any house in the city. Pianos every price, from $275 to $1,500. Call and see them. Remember the place. J. M. Lieghner & Co., 131 Federal street, Allegheny. ws

Workingmen,

If you want a home within easy access of the great manufacturing districts of the city, attend the sale of lots on the Brereton grounds, Lawrenceville, on Monday next, commencing at nine o'clock. You will then have a property in the heart of the city, which, will not only constantly improve in value, but will be saleable at any time. Avoid the folly of buying "out in the woods." Men of means can live comfortably five or ten miles out, but prudent mechanics will do best by making investments in the business part of the city. See advertisement.

RUPTURE.

There are hundreds of people ruptured who don't know what ails them; there are others who don't know what to do for it, nor where to seek for relief or a cure; others again who have had rupture for years, under the false notion that there can be no danger in the future, as there has been none in the past. This is a fatal delusion, and there is no knowing what day the rupture may become strangulated, and call for a painful and dangerous surgical operation. To avoid so fearful a result make application to some competent person to have a truss applied. Will a truss cure me, you may ask? Very often it will, but it will always retain the parts so as to make you secure and safe from danger, and at a cost so trifling as to be hardly worth mentioning when compared with the enormous risk you run in letting it alone. Dr. Keyser, at his office 167 Liberty street, is provided with every appliance suitable to the retention and cure of this terrible evil. He has trusses at a price as low as can be obtained anywhere in the country, and in every variety and quality—of such vast variety, that the most difficult and long standing cases, of years' duration, are made manageable and brought within the province of cure. Let no one deceive themselves into the belief that rupture is never curable; but worse than all, let none consent to "let alone" cure.

ADVERTISING CONTRARY TO THE CODE.

The rules which are laid down for the government of mankind, or even for a class, if not according to reason and common sense, should not be binding. This is as true with regard to medicine as anything else. The man who has made a discovery like Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure, that is known to be useful and curative, has a right, under every rule of reason, to give it the widest publicity. You may say it is contrary to the code of medical ethics. Be it so. Is it not useful, and of widespread merits? Why, then, should it be confined within the narrow limits of the few who have used and tested its remarkable virtues? What harm can it do to spread the fact far and wide, that as Keyser's Lung Cure is a specific in most cases of consumption and other pulmonary diseases? It will stand on its own merits, it is true, but its merits can now be extended beyond the city of its birth, unless it is thoroughly advertised—ought it not to be advertised then according to that broad code which sweeps out of existence all those arbitrary rules that would debar man from the use of that which false custom has tyrannically imposed upon him?

Read Dr. Keyser's treatise, to be had free by writing to him, 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

THE GREAT LAW OF DEFENSE.

You are in possession of a good constitution, or were at one time, it is yours to take care of and to defend it against every inroad, either of disease or invasion from any quarter. To defend ones life is one of the inherent rights of mankind. If an enemy attacks your country from whatever region he might come, you would meet him with all the powers you could command to expel him. Why don't you do the same for your health? It is a matter surely of great moment. It may cost you money, but what is that compared to a healthy existence?

Of what use is a man when his powers are exhausted and his whole frame sunk to the most profound lethargy?

Dr. Keyser's lung cure has restored thousands of chronic invalids to health and vigor; it has built up the broken constitution, and has expelled from the blood the morbid collections which have reduced its plastic powers to a state of unfitness for the uses of life. Try it, or get the Doctor's Treatise on Chronic Lung Diseases, which can be obtained without cost at his medical office, 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

IN THE SECOND WARD,
Allegheny,
AT AUCTION
Sale on Monday,
June 23, at 2 o'Clock.

The largest sale of Allegheny City Property which has occurred for many years will take place on MONDAY, JUNE 23, at 2 o'clock, on the north side of Washington avenue, near to Fremont street, in Second ward. Washington avenue, recently paved, is now one of the finest thoroughfares in the city, extending from Irwin avenue on the east, to the Ohio river on the west. This sale will supply a prevailing demand for good CITY LOTS in a locality where prices have not reached their height, but where there is a certainty of advance in value resulting from future improvement. NOTICE.
To Workingmen and Mechanics.

Within the last month there have been Auction Sales of "Suburban Lots" in nearly every little village and hamlet in Allegheny county. Many persons have been induced by lunches, music, &c., to buy a Lot for a Homestead so far away from the business portion of the city, which, in many instances, will become a source of neglect and loss to their business, and eventually a downright loss of hard earned money.

On Next Monday, June 23d,
Commencing at 9 o'clock A. M., there will be offered at PUBLIC SALE,
An entirely different character of Property, known as the
BRERETON GROUNDS,
IN LAWRENCEVILLE,

Corner of Thirty-third street and Brereton avenue, in the Very Center of the City, within half-a-dozen squares from all the great manufactories in the Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fifteenth and Sixteenth wards.

City water is on the premises, and gas but 2 squares distant.

The property is reached by Penn street horse cars, Minersville horse cars, or Pennsylvania Railroad to Thirty-third street. All accommodation trains stop there, or a reached in 8 minutes from Union Depot.

Here is an opportunity to buy a lot worth building upon in a central location, surrounded by so many improvements that a mechanic or working man can dispose of it again at any time, which is certainly impossible with a majority of the suburban lots now offering.

Enough of the 100,000 tickets issued for the THIRD GRAND GIFT CONCERT, in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky, having been sold to insure a full drawing, and the wish having been universally expressed that the 10,000 cash gifts offered should be drawn in full and paid in full without any scaling down, as heretofore, the management, with the concurrence of the trustees, have determined to allow ninety days more for the sale of the remnant of tickets left on hand. The concert and distribution advertised for April 8 is therefore postponed to Tuesday, July 8, 1873, on which day and no other, they will positively and unequivocally take place in Public Library Hall, Louisville, Ky.

The money to pay all these gifts in full is now upon deposit in the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank of Louisville, and set aside for that purpose, and can only be used for that purpose, as will be seen by the following certificate of the Cashier:

OFFICE OF FARMERS' AND DROVERS' BANK,
LOUISVILLE, KY., April 7, 1873.

This is to certify that there is in the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank to the credit of the Third Grand Gift Concert, for the benefit of the Public Library of Kentucky, five hundred thousand dollars, which has been set apart by the managers to pay the gifts in full, and will be held by the bank and paid out for this purpose and this purpose only.

R. S. VEECH, Cashier.

The party, therefore, who holds the ticket drawing the capital gift will get $100,000 in greenbacks, and so of the $50,000 gift, the $25,000, the $20,000, the $10,000, the $5,000, and all the other gifts, 10,000 in number, amounting to $500,000.

The remnant of unsold tickets will be furnished to those who first apply (orders accompanied by the money always having preference over agents) at the following prices: Whole tickets $10; halves $5; and quarters $2 50; 11 whole tickets for $100, 56 for $500, 113 for $1,000, and 575 for $5,000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

The music will be the best that can be procured, and the gentlemen who count and place the tags and gifts in the wheels and superintend the drawing and keep the record of the drawn numbers will be chosen from the best known and most trustworthy citizens of the country. All will be conducted so as to be a perfect guaranty against complaint from any just source.

The payment of gifts will begin on Saturday, July 12, at 9 o'clock A. M. Tickets drawing gifts must be presented at room No. 4 Public Library building, where cash checks upon the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank of Louisville, or sight drafts upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at the option of the holder, will be given for the tickets. All gifts not called for in 6 months from the drawing will be turned over to the Public Library fund.
